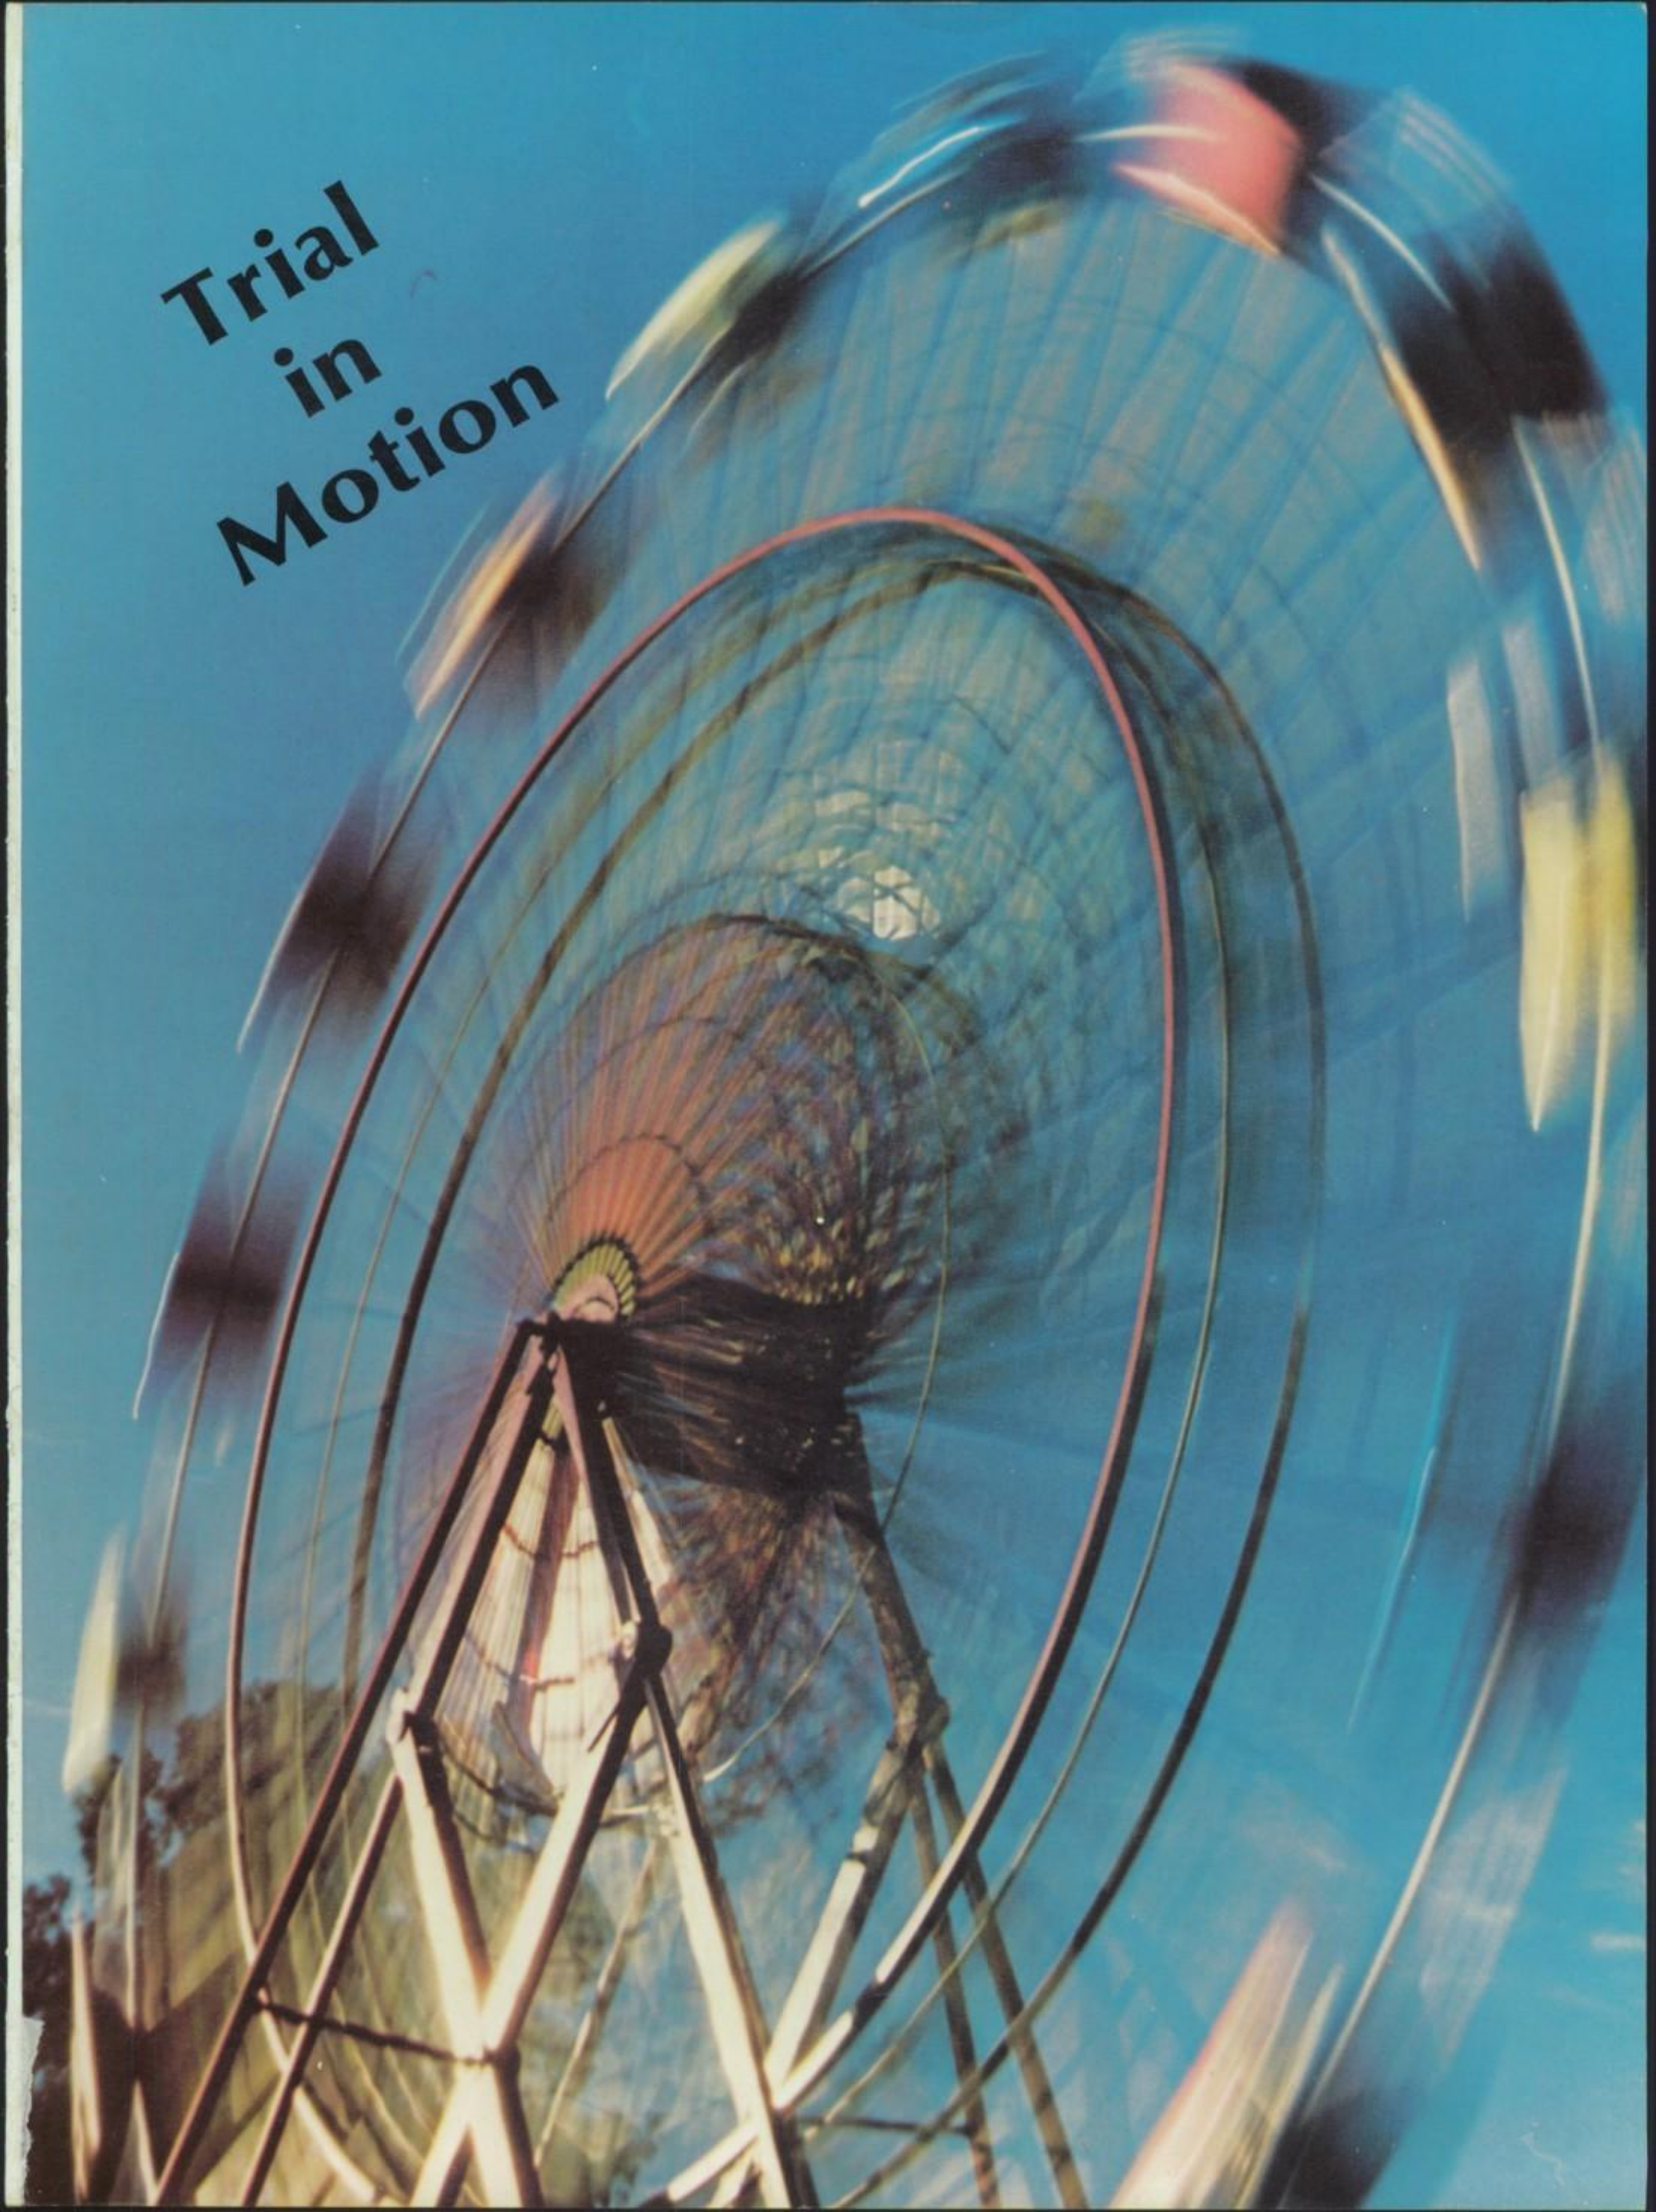
Trial in Motion



Hard/Evidence

Another school year is over and there's plenty of hard evidence to prove it was an exceptional one. For incoming freshmen it was a year of adjusting to a totally foreign situation. Nicole Moncovich (Fresh.) commented, "The first day wasn't scary at all, but this is definitely big!" Jose Barba stated, "Everything is different from my old school, but I really like it."

On the other hand, the sophomore class was thankful to have made it through their own "Freshmanhood." The highpoint of being a sophomore was, of course, Driver's Education. They couldn't wait to get their hands on the family car. Being required to have mom or dad along for the ride was sometimes an irritating, uncomfortable must. Chri Mathews (Soph.) affirmed, "It's a heck of a lot bet ter than being a freshmen" Laura Geiger (Soph. informed us that, "being a Sophomore is a lot more fun than being a Freshmen because people don' tease you anymore."

Juniors had a taste of what it was like to be ar upperclassmen, and most couldn't wait to be Sen iors. They tried to master the art of being laid back and "Senior - Cool". Dawn Jochens (Jr.) agreed, didn't expect any major changes from my Sopho more year, but it turned out to be a lot bette because people look at me as an upperclassman and not a little Sophomore." Jaime Alenzuela (Jr. enthusiastically added, "I can't wait to get out and go to college. I can't believe I have only one more year left!"

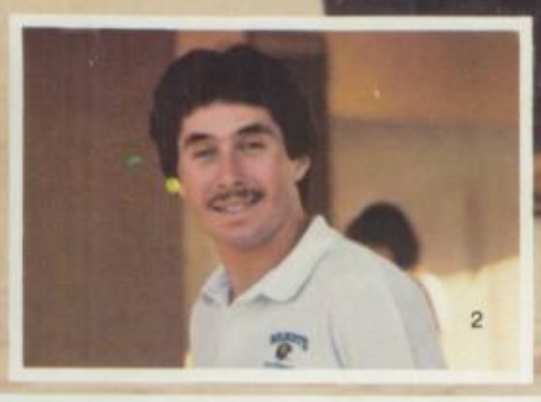
And then there were the seniors, the top honchos of the school. Even though there was the dreaded SAT to contend with, this was definitely the year for Seniors Frederico Melgoza adds, "I'm happy to get out. I can't wait to go to college." Cindy Prichard (Sr.) stated, "Even though my classes were tough this year, I know I've graduated with a good education and a lot of good memories!" A frazzled Ron Jones answered, "When I start to think, things go bad!" Though each class group seemed so different in character, there was one unifying trait in all of us. We all wanted to make the 1985 school year the best we could.

1. Tensely chewing on her finger, Heather McBeth, looks on to the Aptos rival game. 2. Sheli Nickols takes time out to smile for the camera!

3. Mr. Morgan, physics teacher, loves correcting papers!

4. Mark Alaga looks forward to his future! 5. The WHS Spiritleaders for the 1985 football season dazzle the crowd with their routine! 6. Brian Swan, linebacker for the Wildcatz, addresses the crowd before presenting the Spiritleaders with roses!



1. Just hanging around before registration.
2. Look! It's Joey Banuelos looking confident as always!
3. Spirit leaders showing us their stuff at frosh orientation.
4. Hot and Tired! That's what the Love Dogs were playing at our welcome dance.
5. Gina Franklin and Jason Ura are dancing the night away.
6. Boy wall flowers?! No, just Gallino, Lopez and company.

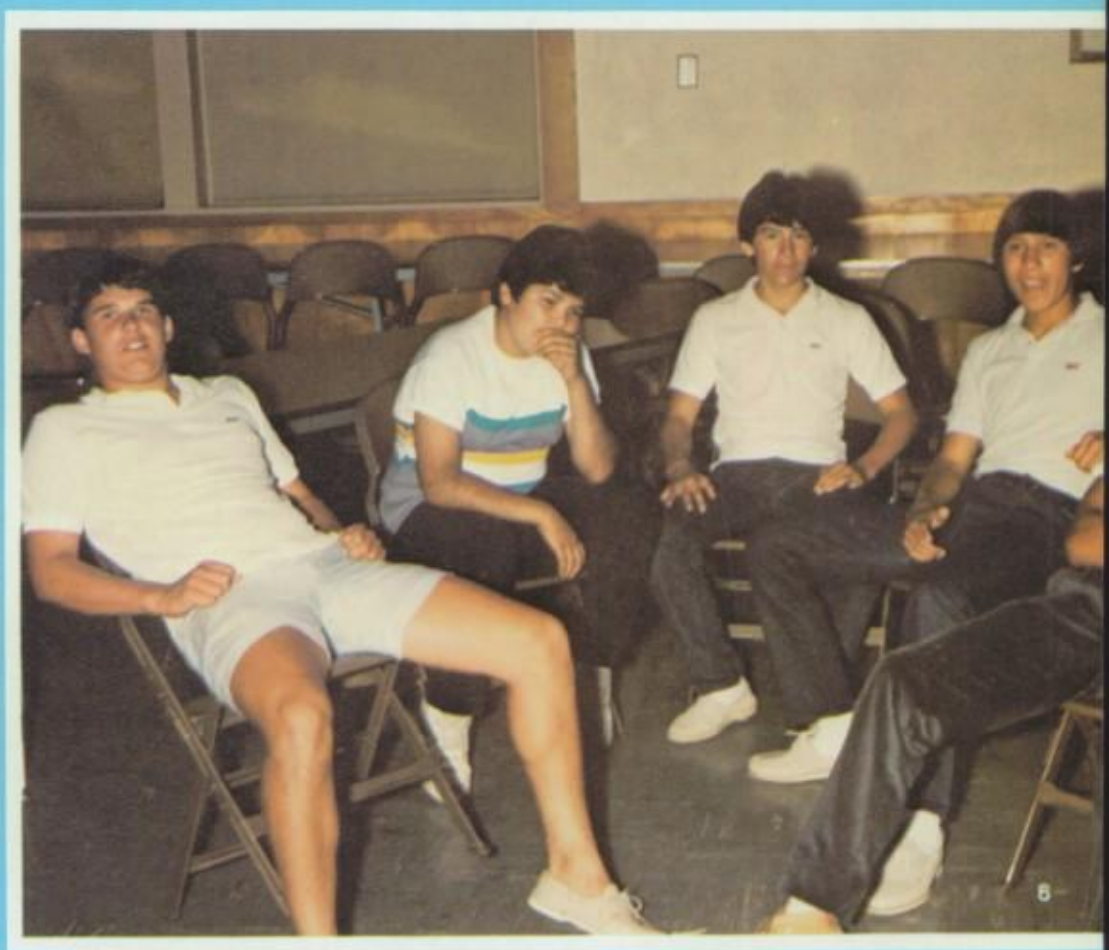
A Warm Welcome

Flash! The New rowdie freshmen were welcomed to WHS with the annual frosh orientation on Aug. 23. Mr. Calvo and Mrs. Shapiro were just two of many who laid down the rules and laws of campus life. On a brighter note, the band played with great vivaciousness, the spiritleaders demonstrated the latest cheers and routines, and the freshmen yelled their support as they anticipated a spirit filled year. Then, it was off to the long registration lines. The freshmen weren't the only ones subjected to this torture, upper classmen also had to run the gauntlet before they were released.

Another bright side to the beginning of school was the spiritleader sponsored Welcome Dance held on Aug. 31. It was a smash hit with everyone dancing to the sounds of the Love Dogs. Nobody seemed to mind the loud music or the hot sticky air that filled the room. They just wanted to keep going all night, but Mr. Markatos made sure that the dance ended at 11:00 p.m. sharp. The freshmen class of 1988 couldn't wait to show off their new found spirit!



The Best Fair

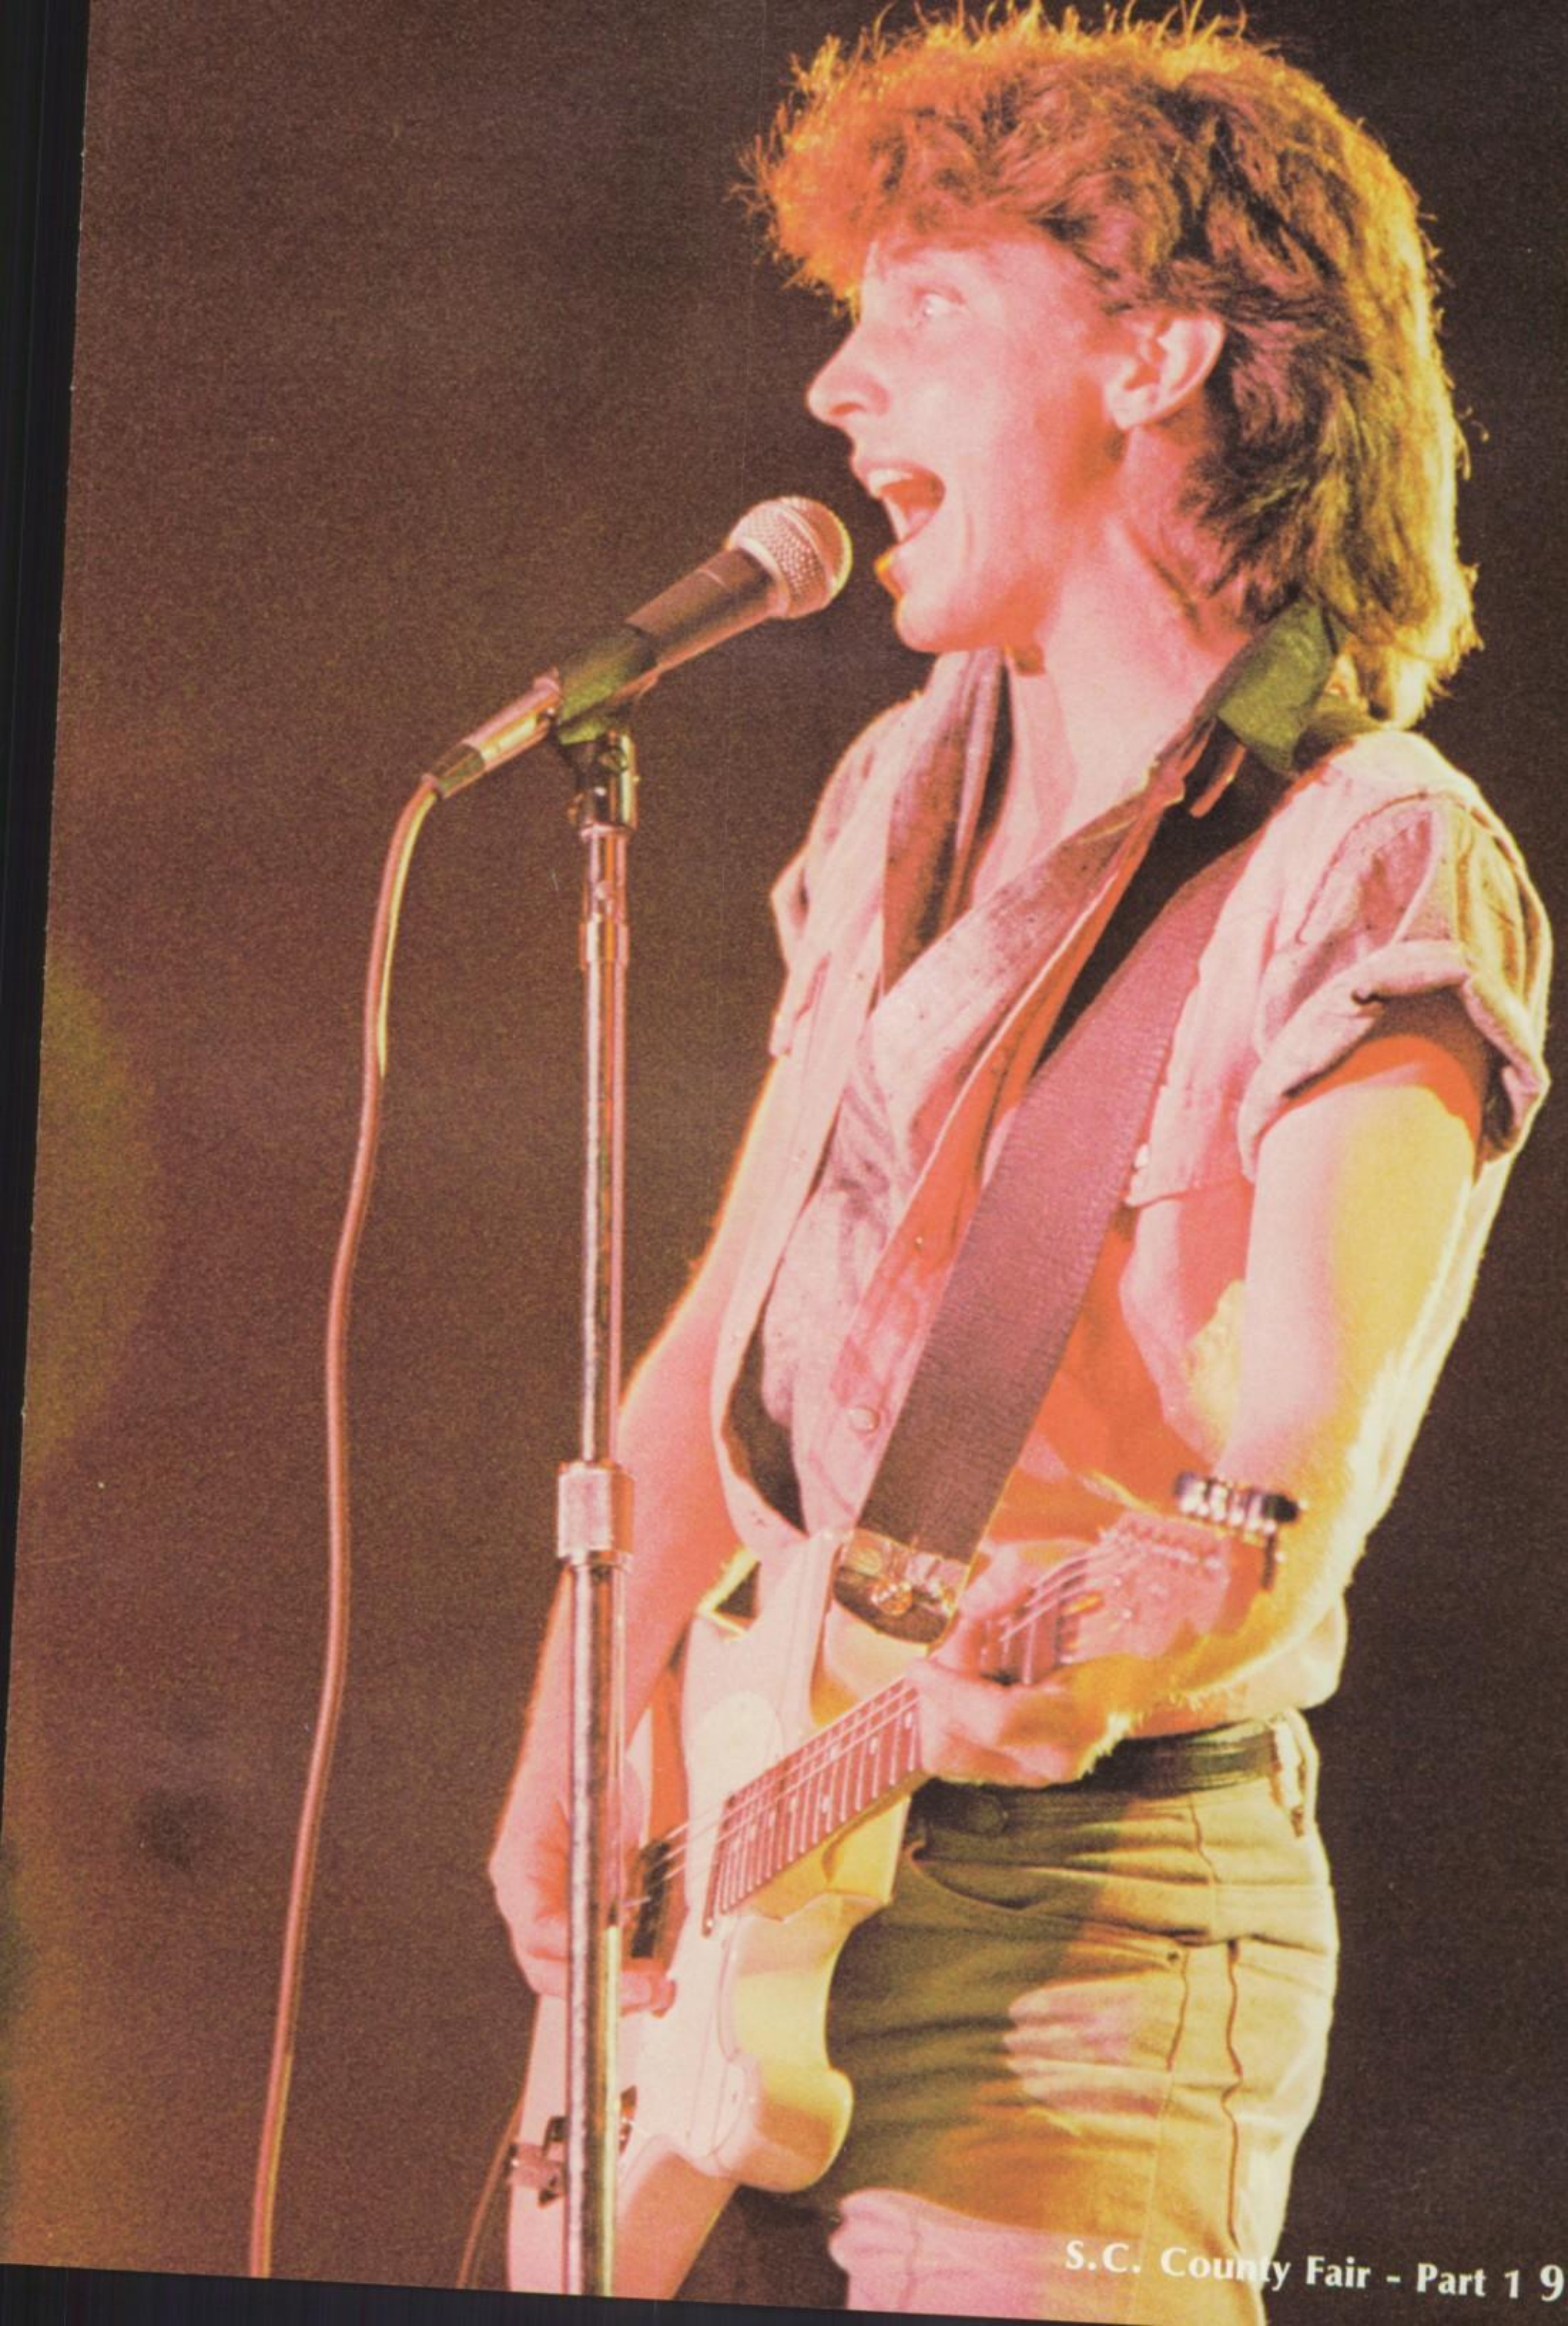
Running wild and free is what WHS students were doing at the Santa Cruz Country Fair, on September 12th.

When the stage lights hit Eddie and the Tide, the crowd went wild, for the best part of this year's fair had begun! Eddie's own excitement showed when he said, "I'd like to thank you all for coming out. This is our home, and it really feels like home!"

"The guys are georgeous, and I've already got beer spilt down my back!" Commented Aimee Flint. But, it's doubtfull that she would have traded places with anyone in the back row!

As the whistles and applause died down, fans crowded the back entrance, hoping to get interviews, or a possible glimpse of the famous band members, some even walked away with an envied autography.

1. Lara Graf, Karen Duster, Tenie and Shawna Martin get literally crushed up against the fence while waiting for Eddie and the Tide to perform. 2. Eddie and the Tide during warm-ups. 3. The sax player for the Medflies shows his stuff. 4. Chris Christ, lead singer for the Medflies, enjoying the crowd's response. 5. During warm up Eddie Rice is distracted by a fan. 6. Eddie Rice jams on his Fender Strat during the concert.



S.C. County Fair - Part 1 9

Fair Evidence

The economical monster? Inflation definitely affected the Santa Cruz County Fair this year!

Can you imagine tossing quarters instead of dimes just to win one of those cute adorable stuffed beasts?

But, . . . inflation sure didn't stop the students and staff of W.H.S. Those witty wildcaz kept whizzing by faster than you could realize!

This year in early September, everyone planned out days and nights at the S.C. County Fair. Some of the popular happenings this year were concerts of many kinds. Another main attraction was the Break Dancing Contest, which was held on Saturday. Many students of all ages come to watch or compete. A splashful attraction was the new water bumper cars.

Well, . . . the county fair is gone, but Mr. Pedulla, remembers how entertaining it was. He especially enjoyed the home arts. Mike Murray (junior) was happy that this year's fair was, "better than last."

As you can tell, when the fair had drawn to a close, the only remains were the EVIDENCE of fun filled days and nights, and the fact that the Santa Cruz County Fair grounds were left silent once more.

1. GeGe Bencich, Jane Muir, Linda Lowell, and Anna King pose as the three musketeers.
2. "Lights on" at the Santa Cruz County Fair.
3. "Moo!" says the cow to Lori Mattingly.
4. Stacy Weimer grins as she tries to snatch an award winning apple, and Kelly Sglav says, "Go for it!"
5. "Weee!" Here we go!"

Spirited Facts

Let's hear it for the spirit!" And you could definitely hear the spirit echoing through the gym and chanting with pride. The first rally of the year; and what a day it was! Rallies were the only time students could yell and scream on campus and get recognition rather than referrals. They loved it! The experienced rally participants screamed and yelled. Excitement brought forth the spirit in newcomers so that the school gym shook and roared with the shock of everyone's enthusiasm. But, then everyone quieted and the gym stood still as the anxious spectators awaited the first words from the new head football coach, Ron Myers. He stepped proudly up to the mic, gave a pep speech and introduced the senior players. He said that "Seniors are what make the varsity football team." Then he introduced the juniors who had made varsity and asked with a smile, "Do the juniors look better from the front or behind?" This is what brought everyone's spirit together. Each of the four class sections chanted their title with the "up-most" pride. The first rally of the year was a success. After that, what could go wrong!?! Every new rally was even better than the last. At 2:34 the eager mob of students began pushing their way into the gym to get a good seat, already knowing that they would have a great time. You knew that the rally would bring out your fun, forceful earthquaking spirit that you never imagined you had.

6) Class competition time! Juniors give it your all; and these juniors did.
5) Three ways to say "Go team!" As said well by Maria Elena Rodriquez, Christi Mossor, and Gina Franklin at this years first rally.
1) Sally Screamer (Christi Mossor) claims her prize, the hunk (Mr. Grabost).

2) "Okay Mike Lewis," Says Sophie Petroutsas, "Show everyone how far you ran to make the touchdown, and take the yarn with you."
3) A mini home-coming, possibly, but this year all of the spirit leaders received roses and a football escort.
4) Kimmy Kling-on (Lori Paz) patiently waits with her sigh as Bob Barker (Mr. Morgan) assisted by LeeAnna Alexander speaks during the skit.

1) Shawn Jones and Rickie Brockman enjoy a night on the town on hot wheels! 2) Robert Rodriguez-"This is the life!"; companions are Pauline Lynch, Kim Marquez, Ronna Lacy, Debbie Lightfoot, and Carissa Hernandez.

Out On Good Behavior

What was it that we looked forward to during the day but never got enough of at night? Night life- that's what kept us going! No matter what the circumstances were during the day, there was always the hope that there would be a time to get away by going out on the town and really having a blast! We couldn't have survived with all work and no play, now could we? There were always things that kept us on our feet like homework, practice, or family life. No matter how much we got, it never seemed to be enough. We all went out sometime or another, to watch a movie with a close friend, to go cruising in a hot car, to grab a bite to eat, or to do any of a number of things . . . But, no matter who we were, we all went out, and had a great time doing it!

3) Amber Buyers laughs at Steve Gonzales' joke. 4) Molly Crumpton, Mark Sawyer, and Kraig Youmans enjoying Burger King after a game. 5) The only way to travel . . .

Risky Business

The bigger the better! the shorter the snazzier! Fashionable earrings in a selection of shapes and sizes dangled from earlobes throughout the campus. Making them more noticeable were short, new-wave haircuts slicked back stylishly at the sides with styling gels. And, . . . these new cuts were modeled by both guys and gals. Suntanned teens returned from summer vacation with more than a darker shade of skin. Plaid bermuda shorts and Ray-Ban Wayfarer sunglasses were popular items in many wardrobes. When cold winds began to blow, students bundled up in oversized sweaters, bunting jackets, Levis 501's, and velcro tennis shoes. The style of 1985 was to be "Risky," to try something new. In short, to find your own style.

1. Anna Petroutsas smiles radiantly as the camera captures her foreign earings dangling in the breeze.
2. Lia Miedecke sports her own views on fashion.
3. The "gladiator" look sweeps the school.
4. Future execs., Chester Nakatani and Everardo Torres loosen their ties and say, "It's casual."
5. Converse high tops, in any color imaginable, is the rage of WHS.

Indecent Exposure

October 31st came rolling along and the students at Watsonville High school were a sight to see! A majority of the school dressed up this year. We had a variety of costumes ranging from Army Soldiers to Boy George look-a-likes. We even caught some glimpses of little pink bunnies hopping around campus. A dissappointed Connie Hoffman said, "It wasn't fun at all . . . I got egged!" And you were sure to see eggs flying across the quad even though courageous throwers were being suspended left and right.

Several teachers decided to get into the spirit of things and dressed up also! Toni Marinovich (Sen.) stated, "Today was fun, but I can't wait till tonight to go trick or treating!" Mr. Taggart, typing teacher, simply stated, "Trick or Treat?!?" 1. Donna Luchsinger and Heather McBeth play in the middle of the road.2.Cynthia Longoria has high hopes for joining the circus!3.A local nun on her way to heal the sick.4.Dorothee Grebe (German Exchange student) waits for the moment to tell her family she ate lunch with Donkey Hoty!5.Blues Brothers, Richard Silva, Joel Austin, Lawrence Gose kick back during lunch-.6.When was your last check-up?7.Lisa punks out for Halloween.

Ghostly Evidence

Just who or what was your teacher on October 31? Some of the luckier students had a Burger King Whopper for their instructor. Yep, that juicy morsel was none other than Mr. Wong. You might even have seen little Devon buzzing through your class.

Were you tempted to pick one of those lucious looking grapes off of the sun ripened Mr. Welch? It wasn't only the students of WHS who got into the spooky atmosphere. The staff was also the most spirited to be seen on any Halloween day.

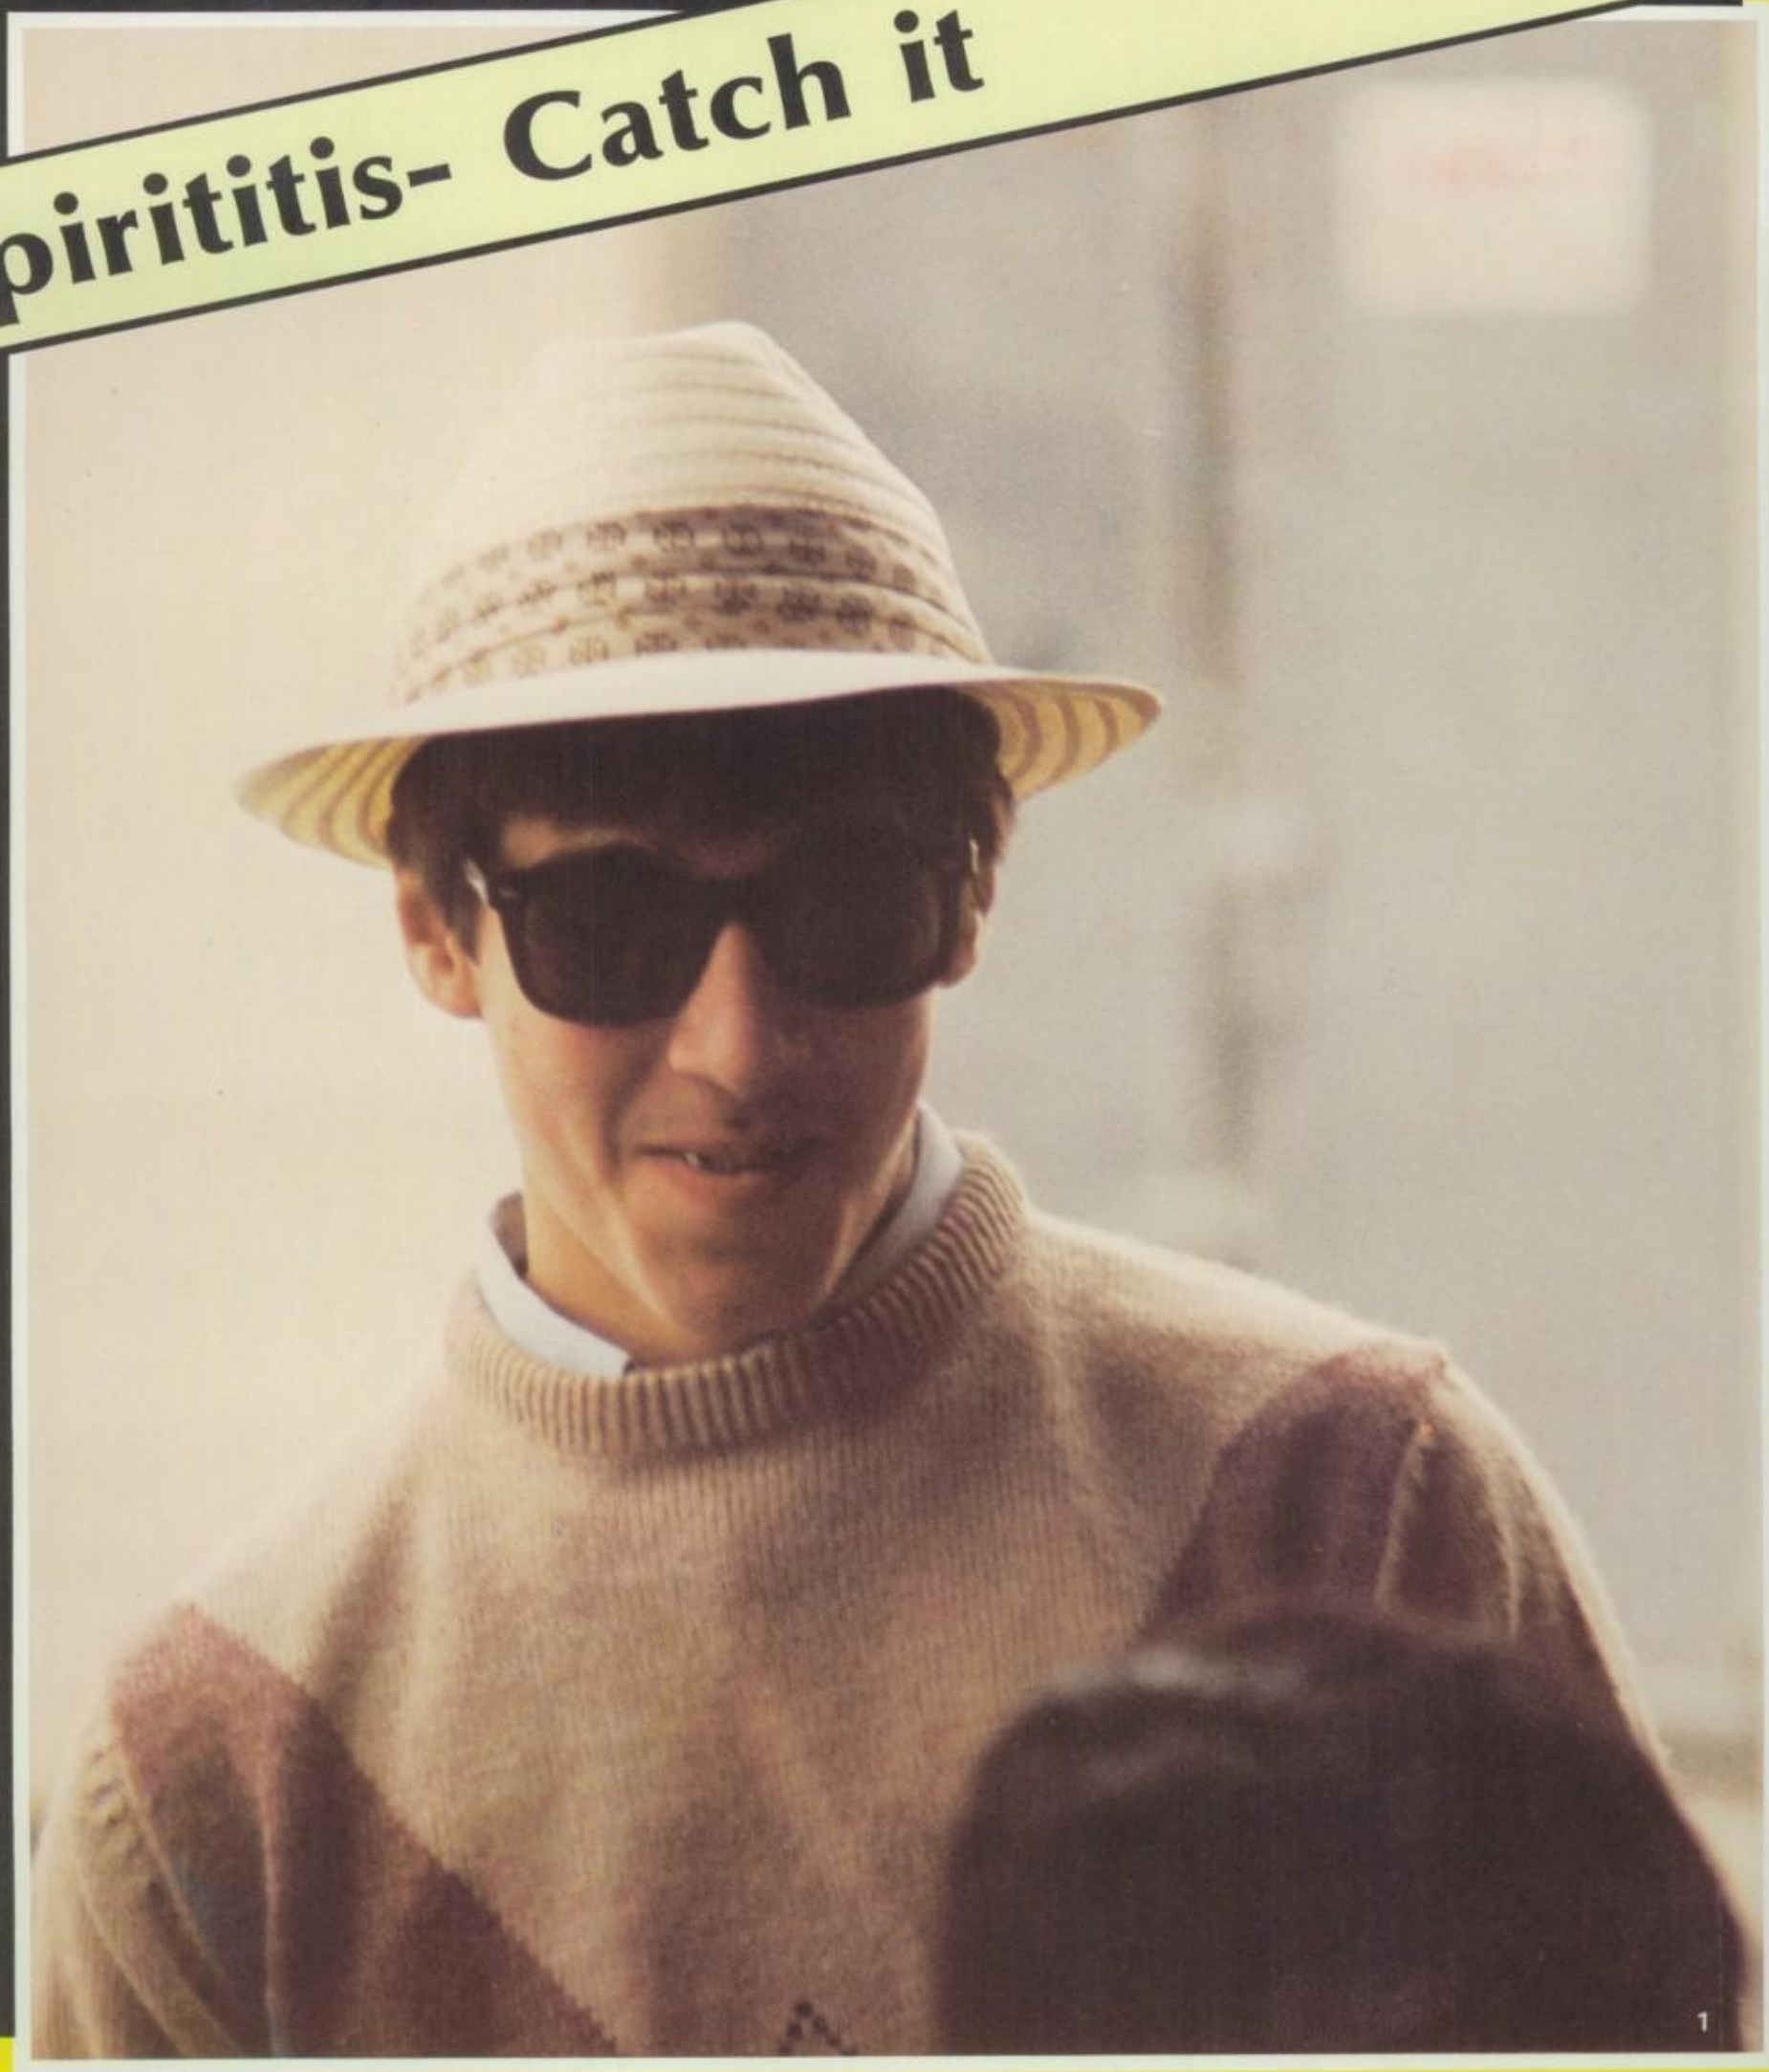
Some teachers tricked and some treated. P. E. teacher, Ms. Markam, gave out gummy bears after she made all of her students sweat off those ugly inches by pounding away at Jazzercise.

Other teachers were involved in the holiday by reading one of the famous ghostly goblins stories, or by showing a spooky film. Mrs. Shapiro stated, "Do not throw eggs or anything of the sort, or else!" She then wished us a Happy Halloween.

Mrs. Adams, really got involved in the macabre mood, when she had all of the students in her sports Lit. class carve his/her own sports personalities out of a Jack-o-Latern.

Students, staff, and administrators all partook in some form of Halloween fun. It was definitely a day of spooky evidence for both students and faculty.

Spirititis- Catch it



Why would anyone wear shades on a foggy day or ties with jeans? Do you mean someone told you to wear clothes that weren't "up to date" even as far back as the fifties, and they called it "nifty?" Yes, an incurable disease spread over the students of Watsonville High School compelling them to dress wierdly and act rowdie for five days. The disease was diagnosed as "Spirititis" and just about everyone caught it. To cure themselves of this fast spreading disease, named "Spirit," students rolled into Gieser Field Memorial to watch one of the best homecoming games in recent history. This only made their spirit rise and made fun inevitable.

Spirit week was catchy this year due to the fact that more people dressed up and participated in the fun. At a spirit rally held on "nifty fifty day" the cheerleaders and pom pon girls danced to the tunes of the "Grease" album and class competition included stomping on and popping balloons. Popular responses to Spirit week were: "It was good for the school because we need something to boost it up," said Christine Manger, a Senior. Ronna Lacy, a Jr., declared . . . "It was good but we needed a Clash dress up day."

1) Tim Gomes enthusiastically dresses for hats and shades day. 2) Jamie Morgan and Robert Rice catch the spirit and dress for "dress up" day. 3) Lori Paz and Kris Honda celebrate 50's day, not with a cherry soda, but a lemon-aid. 4) This girl shows us her favorite tie on tie day. 5) This girl has a bad case of spirititis. 6) Linda Araiza and Sophie Petroutsas go over the latest gossip on 50's day. 7) Six WHS supporters, Mr. Bivins, Mr. Wong, Mr. George, Mr. Hashimoto, Mr. Hardy, and Mr. Leikam show spirit by wearing their letterman sweaters.

This terminal disease doesn't need to be cured. In fact the more people with it the better. So catch it, . . . "SPIRITITIS!"

An Enchanted Victory

What did we win that we haven't won in four years? Our Homecoming Game! And, it all started with a vibrant rally. The gym cried out with pain as tons flocked to participate in this year's festivities.

The noise in the gym had reached a crescendo, and then, slowly died down. The time to announce the new queen and her court had come. Slowly each princess was brought down from the bleachers amid much applause. Then, the one lucky girl, was helped out of the top row of the bleachers. She walked around the gym with happy tears falling from her eyes. Ramie Sugiduno was the 1984 Homecoming Queen. Laura Segura became First Princess, Patti Edelmaier was Second Princess, Traci Odom was elected Third Princess, and Mimi Ścurich found that she was Fourth Princess.

There was laughter and excitement, as with any homecoming rally. But, there was also a unity that enveloped everyone and that made it all so much more fun. The day was topped off with our homecoming victory at Geiser Field. The Catz played to perfection against the number one ranked Harbor Pirates to sink them. We won 21 to 12. The crowd screamed as the Wildcatz ran over to greet the cheering crowd after the game. Over all, the 1984 Homecoming was about the most perfect event that WHS has ever seen.

1. Princesses Traci Odom and Mimi Scurich are escorted by the Paul Coty, and Bob Bivins. 2. Evidence of a Victory

Every Wildcat player and fan anxiously awaited the Homecoming Game played against Harbor High School on November 9, 1984! Adrenaline had been surging through the players for days. The crowd showed unity, spirit, and most importantly, faith.

The game began soon after the crowd and players paid a tribute to America with the Watsonville Wildcat Band and choir performing the National Anthem. Then, the fun started. The Wildcatz couldn't, and wouldn't, make a mistake!

After playing their hearts out the first half of the game, the team charged for the locker room. The score: Wildcatz 21 and Harbor High 6 lit up the scoreboard and the crowd roared.

The scene continued to be jubulent and the kick-off found the Wildcatz still coming on strong. It seemed that nothing would stop them, and nothing did. When the gun sounded at the end of the fourth quarter, we were the victors with the final score colorfully displayed: Wildcatz 21, Pirates 12.

1. Homecoming queen Ramie Sugidono escorted by her father. 2. Ramie seems a bit camera SHY! 3. No one dare stand in the way of #33 Mike Lewis. 4. Curly, Larry, and Moe otherwise known as coach Rusmire, Mohulski, and Myers look tensely onto the game. 5. OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE: ENCHANTED VOYAGE

The Harvest Moon further proved that Watsonville High School is definitely a school to be reckoned with. Spirits still soared from the preceding night's victory over Harbor. The band, Black Stone, played well, but it took a while to get everyone dancing. Even though the crowd took some time to get going, once on the dance floor there was no stopping them. Black Stone played "Billy Idol" and "Twisted Sister" while the crowd promoted the festivities by dancing, laughing, smiling, clapping hands and singing along. There was no music during the breaks, which gave the jubilant crowd a chance to catch a breath. As Blackstone came back on stage requests were yelled out by the crowd. Black Stone complied and this sent students running onto the dance floor. Chaperones weren't ready to sit back and watch. So as not to be outdone, they danced a bit, too. All in all, stars shone brightly and the evening was an enchanted voyage for all who attended.

Eyes Witnesses

Are your pictures cropped? Is this your dominant photo? Today's the deadline! Frantic fears were screamed across the classroom from frantic staff members.

Editor, Mihyun Ahn, had a look of distress on her face as she rushed from one desk to another checking layouts. "This is not right! Change this!" Frustration! Aggravation! But neccessary changes were made and our deadlines were met. Signs of relief were displayed, not only on the faces of students, but also on the face of first time yearbook advisor, Bonnie Pieper.

All work and no play could have made the Manzanita staffa dull group of people. So we celebrated birthdays once a month, which meant cake, chips, and sodas. We attended workshops where we learned about the latest in graphics, design, copy writing, and gained other helpful hints in successful yearbook production. Yearbook West, as well as an all day workshop, also gave us the opportunity to meet staff members from other schools in this area. We found the sharing of creative ideas very beneficial.

The amount of work put into the yearbook production was tremendous. Many times we banged our heads on walls, slammed rulers on tables, or shed precious tears. But, we all pulled together and gathered the evidence into this yearbook. The evidence we photographed and reported is yours to deal with in whatever manner you wish. We were all key witnesses to this school year, therefore, we feel that you, too, helped produce the book. We salute you for an excellent year and thank you for contributing the evidence which helps to make the 1985 Manzanita a success.

We Salute You, Stormin' Norman

Mr. Norman Lee Haney Jr. was born in Coalinga, California on April 4, 1972. He attended Coalinga Union High School and participated in basketball, football, baseball and track. After high school, Mr. Haney majored in Science and Physical Education at Fresno State University and married his wife Mrs. Joy Haney. They will be celebrating their 38th wedding anniversary this year.

Mr. Haney has been teaching at Watsonville High School for 35 years or "three and one half decades," as he put it. Biology, Health Education, Driver's Education, First Aid, and Life Science are among the classes he has taught in the past. He was also head of the science department for 28 years.

"Stormin' Norman" has coached sports for 35 years. He coached golf from about 1954 to 1966 and football for 16 years from 1950 to 1966. He has also been coaching basketball since 1950. In 1983 he was selected as the Monterey Bay League's girls' coach of the year after his team won the league championship and the C.C.S. playoffs.

As far as hobbies go, Mr. Haney considers himself the "World's Greatest Golfer and Dominoe Player." As a matter of fact, he intends to work for about five more years and then spend his days playing golf (or should we say terrorizing the local ranges?).

He enjoys the sports, kids and the teachers here at Watsonville High. And, we enjoy having Mr. Haney here, also. He is one of the best. We are very fortunate to have him here with us. We dedicate our 1985 Manzanita to Mr. Norman Haney.

The Death Penalty

Drama, suspense, mystery, and comedy! Agatha Christie's Appointment With Death, under the direction of Jolly Bilstad and student director Lisa Rhody, had it all! Our story was centered around an American family traveling abroad. The audience soon found that Mrs. Boynton had unusual control over her four grown children, Lennox, his wife Nadine, Raymond, and Ginevra. They also learned that another American, Jefferson Cope, was in love with Nadine and would do anything to posses her. The plot thickened when the young Raymond fell in love with a doctor, Sarah King, who along with Dr. Gerard, set out to free the family from the tyranical old woman's grasp. Sound confusing and even a little bizarre? It was. What did it all add up to, you ask? MURDER!!

Order In The Court

The Basketball Homecoming Rally was enjoyed by those who attended. The rally was opened traditionally with the band and spirit leaders combining for "Go-Go you Wildcatz!" The Pom Pon squad had troubles with their tape but then graced us with a routine to Madonna's "Material Girl." The moment all had anticipated was at hand. The Homecoming Court was named and crowned. Princesses were Laurie Clark, Jill Miller, Delyna Cruz, and Delia Trujillo. Seniors, Art Vargas and Ed Kelly, searched the crowd for our queen, Karen Dutra. The whole gym screamed and stomped. To top it all off, that night the Wildcatz won their first league game of the year.

Wintery Evidence

Limousines, Glamour, Excitement, were evident at this year's Winter Ball. The Senior Class put on this semi-formal dance, and agreed on the great turnout, despite some confusion.

Mr. Schekman stood at the door to greet the students and check their I.D. cards.

The student body danced the night away to the sounds of the mighty hot band, Red Line.

"I thought the band took too many long breaks," said Sophomore, Perry Lopez. Ariel Beauchamp, Junior was more positive and said, "I felt it was a really great band"

Some of the partiers were disappointed because the D.J. who was supposed to play had some technical difficulties and was unable to perform. Senior, David Sanchez and friends said, "It would have been better with the D.J.

Even though there were some difficulties most party goers had an awesome time. "I thought the Winter Ball was fun" said Freshmen, Michelle Harris.

All in all the Winter Ball was a delightful fantasy for all who attended.

1- "Red Line" was surely a hot band.
2- Senior Eddie Torres, dances the night away.
3- Basketball Homecoming queen, Karen Dutra enjoys herself at the ball.
4- All partiers of W.H.S. had a radical time and danced the night away.
5- Kris Honda shows her style.
6- Dale Shadwell holds on to his partner.

A Night Of Glitter

February 14th and 15th proved to be a very successful occasion. The Watsonville High M.A.T.A. Club Talent Show, "Night of Glitter", had just been presented to the student body and community. We were all treated to two nights of excellent student and faculty talent.

WHS was honored and lucky to obtain the musical services of our own Faculty "Andrew Sisters", Bev Wesley, Rhonda Levine, and Georgina Goodwin by singing their rendition of "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy". The audience was overwhelmed by their presentation.

People in attendance were treated to such talent as, breakdancing, special rapping, solo modern dancing, singing duo's, soloists, and female group dancing.

Another special guest act was the group, "Clockwork". This musical group consisted of WHS graduates and current students. They closed out the night's events with a couple of rock tunes.

Prizes awarded were certificates of appreciation to all acts, plus $100.00 and a trophy for first place, $50.00 and a trophy for second place, and $25.00 and a trophy for third place. This year's winners were Cynthia Longoria, The Floor Masters, and Elissa Aguirre respectively.

M.A.T.A. Club would like to thank all the participants, faculty and administration for making this event a successful one.

Breaking— Catch the Fever

Floor Masters, The Furious Rock Squad, the The Body Rockers—sound familiar? These were the various breakdancing clubs found at WHS this year.

Breaking started in New York ghettos many years ago. Later, it received more publicity through movies such as Beat Street, Breaking, etc. People became increasingly interested in breaking, enough, in fact to try it themselves.

This year most clubs went to contests to compete against other clubs. These contests were judged on the organization of the clubs, the quality of the routines, and how well contestants were dressed for breaking. A few of the moves that were most popular this year were the "swipe", "up rocking", "windmills", "freezes", and back flips.

Breaking was fascinating to watch because of some of its unbelievable and dangerous moves. It helped to keep students busy and out of trouble.

Alma Espinoza felt that "It's creative and gives them something to do. Instead of fighting, they break against each other."

On a lighter note, Cesar Cruz, who belonged to the "Furious Rock Group" said, "It's tripping to see the moves they do."

Armando Gonzales agreed that the reason breaking was such a fad this year was because people "get to compete against other people, meet others, and just prove who is better."

Popping and Breaking was definitely in this year, many believed that it was a fad that's here to stay!

Reigning Royalty

Tall, Dark, and Handsome. Who does that sound like? We all knew it described our reigning 1985 King of Hearts, Art Vargas.

This year's King of Hearts rally was unlike any other. First of all, the class competition was a very sticky one. It involved a cotton ball passing contest. Each participant had vaseline on his or her nose and had to pass a cotton ball by using their noses. We also had Willie the Wildcat and a soccer ball take the place of two princes who could not attend the royal function. But, even without them, the event will be remembered by those who attended. Everyone who came to the crowning got a special treat. While King Art was being escorted around the gym in his royal wagon, he tipped his magestic crown to honor his adoring fans.

The 1985 King of Hearts and His Tarts consisted of Princes Brian Swan, Mike Lewis, Luis Magana, Sigi Ceballos, and last, but certainly not least, the King of Hearts himself, Art Vargas.

1. Kim Daniel and Carrisa Hernandez participate in the cotton ball contest. 2. Delia Trujilo escorts Prince Sigi Ceballos. 3. HELP IS ON THE WAY

The bloodmobile was here once again! The Bloodmobile has come to WHS twice a year so that the young generation and the staff of Watsonville High School could donate blood. The bloodmobile only drew 32 pints of blood this winter which was discouraging because the bloodmobile was trying to reach the goal of 60 pints.

The Red Cross might have gotten closer to the goal they wanted if they hadn't had to turn down donors for not meeting the standards. People with colds, weighing less than 110 lbs. or who could not prove they had their immunization from Rubella were not allowed to donate blood. On the positive side, the bloodmobile this year attracted a lot of new donors. Out of the people that donated blood, 27 were first time donors. Hopefully next year, Watsonville High School will have a better turnout.

This year we had many helpers. These aids went around recruiting donors, as well as working in the bloodmobile itself. These volunteers were: John Summers, Ivette Mireles, Gary Yoshida, Vicki Mano, Jill Miller, and Paige Rubottom, who was the student chairperson in the bloodmobile bloodmobile a success because they had strong feelings about the importance of this worthwhile cause: Ivette Mireles, "I had lots of fun helping with the bloodmobile even though I couldn't donate blood." Gary Yoshida, agreed, "It was fun watching people donate." Paige Rubottom added, "It was fun, but we didn't make the goal we were trying for."

1. Rose Gomes donating blood.
2. Kirk Vojvoda giving a nurse in the bloodmobile information about himself.
3. Kim Marques and Barbie Gomez getting information so that aids can to get the donors out of class.
4. Mike Nagiminne donating blood with Bobby Rigor watching him.
5. Karen Dutra showing everybody that she donated blood and it doesn't hurt.
6. Jill Miller, an aid, going out to get some more donors.

Small Claim Court

What Would We Do Without Them

Just imagine how dull a football game would be without the "Go Wildcats!" of the cheerleaders and the screams of the wild and rowdy Pep Club. These groups and all the other clubs on campus provided fun and life for the school. There was a club for just about everyone's taste, ranging from the Art Club to Alley Cats.

Clubs provided new interests as well as new friends who had something in common. Many of the clubs traveled to new and exciting places that introduced them to different experiences. For example, Model UN went to Berkeley where they debated against other schools. Snow Catz traveled to Badger where they glided down the slopes. Choir bussed down to San Diego to sing their hearts out. To stay active, the clubs had to raise money. They did this by holding various fundraisers.

All of the organizations had one common goal—that was to have a good time.

1. Izlan Hernandez, Scott Marshall, and Bill Winton march on the football field along with others during a game.
2. Jerry Cordoza tries for a strike.
3. Model UN President Patti Edelmaier and Eileen Chavot discuss a project.

Spiritleaders Do it With a RAH!

What kind of football game would it be without spiritleaders? Their continuous chanting kept the home crowd roaring and the players psyched.

The varsity squad kept the crowd constantly in motion with new cheers calling for crowd responses. And did they respond!

The Cheerleaders, headed by LeeAnn Alexander, rolled their way through the best season ever. With their original routines and costumes, the Pom-pon girls, led by Ramie Sugidono, danced their way through the year equally well. Even the lower classmen pulled through with a super Junior Varsity Squad! Headed by Kris Honda, they yelled and screamed and sang through a terrific group of games.

Leopard outfits, somersaults, and wildcat spirit helped make 1985 a jazzier year. Altogether, the spirit squad contributed to teams that rallied as some of the best.

Fired Up TO Win

Enthusiastic," "exciting," "energetic" are just a few word to describe this year's winter Spiritleaders. Their ORIGINAL routines, using all four squads of twenty-four girls, projected spirit throughout the gym and throughout the season.

The Varsity Cheerleaders, headed by Jennifer Dunn and Pauline Lynch, created a dazzling scene second to none with trick cheers and new chants. Varsity Pom-pon, led by Delyna Cruz, did a great job with head-turning routines. They also did their fair share of making up hectic cheers.

The Junior Varsity squad, headed by Lorena Henriquez, gave their all with spectacular cheers.

The Soccer Squad, led by Berta Gomez, was the success behind the team. Cheering the team onto victory certainly had it's benefits.

"Most of the squd were veterans, but for some people this was a whole new experence. We overcame these barriers and had a great year!," stated Kim Marquez. Carissa Hernendez was pleased with the outcome of this year, "This was my first year as a cheerleader and it was a very enlightening experience."

There's No-Catz Like Sno-Catz

Buzz. The alarm goes off. Your clock reads 2 a.m. or something close to that. You feel like a Zombie, but that does not matter; you'll be with your friends in a few moments. You dive into the shower and throw your clothes on even though you're still wet. Already you're making a mad dash for the car, praying it starts this morning. Welcome to the world of Sno-Catz.

Sno-Catz is the WHS ski club. It is the longest lasting organization at WHS, and, in fact, this is its 25th year. Every ski season members of the club head to Badger Pass Yosemite National Park. Occasionally, a more extensive trip is planned, Oregon, Utah, Colorado, and even Switzerland have been the Snow Catz targets in the past.

THE BAND

Fall in outside people! We're going on the field!" Drum Major, Peter Martin, yelled this everyday during marching season.

The band met fourth period each day and also held Tuesday night rehearsals. It took a lot of patience and stamina to be in the band, but it all paid off when they won the honor of a first place trophy in a parade.

Being a member of the band was not all work. They did do fun things, too. For example, they made flip cards which helped WHS win the spirit award at the S.C.C.A.L. Jamboree. They enjoyed going to all of their competitions because of all the togetherness. It was like one big family. Renee Bencich, summed it up by declaring, "We did well this year and I hope we do even better next year."

Musical Mornings

Would you like to get to school at 7:30 a.m. to sing? Madrigal did everyday. This group was made of 14 people and they sang Renaissance music that was composed in the 1400-1600's. They were very enthusiastic and serious about what they sang. Madrigal's director was Mr. Herman Fisher. He said, "This year's Madrigal was good and I'm glad we did a lot of good things." Madrigal went around to the local schools and performed. At Christmas and in the spring they performed in concerts with the choir. Choir met fourth period and they sang pop and foreign music.

Translating the Evidence

Selling gummybrars isn't the only thing the French Club did. The officers, led by Terrodora De Luna, planned original activities for the club to attend throughout the year.

One of the events that the members loved the best was going to a french resturant and experiencing one of the finest cuisines from the world of cooking.

Towards the end of the year the club held their whole meeting in French; this was a huge step for students who speak French as a second language.

Secretary Ariel Beauchamp was very pleased with group activity. "Our new advisor, Mrs. Adams, got the group going and throwing a Christmas party helped get the club enthusiastic," she said.

AFS: Daring to Dream

Would you like to travel to different countries and learn about different cultures? Maybe American Field Service is for you, AFS sponsors dedicated students to study in various areas of the globe. This year AFS sponsored two students to study at WHS and one Watsonville student, Gina Gallino, to go to school in New Zealand for the second semester of last year and the first semester of this year.

Of course, not everyone is promised a trip overseas, but anyone can broaden their horizons with AFS.

Taking a Stand

If you were reading the bulletin one morning you probably noticed a fundraiser sponsored by the Filipino Student's Association. This dedicated group of students were always planning something. Whether it was a carwash, pizza night, or school dance, they always got it together with enough time to pull it off without complications.

With all the money that was made off of these fundraisers, FSA threw tremendous parties. You can bet that with the sizable bank account they had, these parties were the social event of the year.

Students were placed in SWAS when they had a problem with regular attendance. In SWAS the students attended three classes: math, english, and creative writing.

But SWAS was not all work and no play; it was also involved in extracurricular activities such as putting on Soc Hops, selling balloons for Homecoming and also putting out their own newspaper.

SAPID was designed to help students finish High School. They provided a child care center on campus where the student could leave the child and attend school.

TAM was the other part of SAPID. Tam offered pregnant students and students with infants the opportunity to take prenatal classes along with their regular class subjects.

TAM & SAPID both have held many activities through out the year.

Some of these activities were the selling of tamales just before Christmas, putting on a car wash, and other various fund raisers held to raise money for the S.C.B. scholarships and for Raza Week activities.

S.C.B. was started in 1976 when some concerned students got together and felt that they should try to make a club where Mexican students would be able to meet. Over the years Sociedad has grown to be one of the biggest clubs on WHS campus.

Exchanging Evidence

Uwe Drees was an eighteen year old senior who was an exchange student from Hannover, Germany. Uwe stayed with the Clark Family on Martinelli Street in Watsonville. Some of Uwe's hobbies included painting, bike riding, and playing the guitar. He was on the water polo team and was planning to join the swim team in February. His favorite classes here at W.H.S. were Spanish with Mr. Stout, and English Literature with Mr. Wong. "The best thing I like about Watsonville is the great variety of people," he said. Uwe enjoyed the climate very much, but he missed the white snowy winters at home. One thing Uwe wanted to point out was how surprised he was to see all of the fast food places here in Watsonville and how most people try to nourish themselves on junk food. He especially enjoyed eating in Mexican and Oriental Restaurants because they don't have these in Germany. Uwe was involved in many church functions here in Watsonville, and was also a part of a church choir. Uwe said that he was very satisfied with California and he enjoyed his visit. And he planned to return to Hannover, Germany in July, 1985. Come back soon, Uwe Drees.!!!

Andrea Tosca is a seventeen year old twelfth grade exchange student from Sarmato, Italy. He was staying with the Dunn Family in Watsonville. Andrea has swum since the age of four, and enjoys it very much. He was on the swim team in Italy as well as the water polo team here at WHS. He also joined the swim team in February. Andrea liked most everything about Watsonville and Watsonville High, but he liked the teachers most of all. His favorite class was Physics with Mr. Morgan. "I also liked going to the big cities here in California, because we don't have them back home." said Andrea. During his free time Andrea swam and worked on the library's computer. Andrea planned to return to Sarmato, Italy in July, 1985. We'll miss you Andrea Tosca!!!

Creative Evidence

Creative Writing is a combination class and club. Advisor, Mr. Weir, was very pleased with this year's turnout. He said that the club had the most members it's had in years. The students write such things as short stories, poems, and essays using their own creative style. The club puts out the "Mini Pippin", which is a collection of the club's writing. Then they put out "The Pippin" in the latter part of May. "The Pippin" includes work from both the class and other students and teachers in the school. This encourages students outside the class to develop their own creativity.

Business Club The Wall Street of WHS

The Business Club was a group that taught students the office skills and techniques that they will need as secretaries or business managers.

These students were hard at work under the supervision of Mrs. Runyan who taught them, among other things, the importance of speed and accuracy on the typewriter and how to answer the phone in a business-like manner. The students that were in the business club knew that these skills would be important to them throughout their careers in the business world.

Auto Catz Driving Down The Evidence

Auto Catz was a club that appealed to the senses. The sound of well tuned, revving engines and the sight and smell of greasy dirty coveralls bent over under the hood of a car was what you heard, smelled, and saw when you walked into the Auto Shop during first and second periods.

The students, or "Auto Catz", as they were called were not always working on cars. They took a trip to Laguna Seca Raceway to watch the real pros in action on some of the most sophisticated cars in the world. They also took steps toward their soon to be careers as transmission technicians or managers of a dealership garage.

The Auto Catz were not only busy getting their hands greasy, they were also learning a trade that would be helpful for the rest of their lives.

Science's Little Helpers

The Science Club was a new organization on campus this year. In fact, this was the club's first year in operation. "Things were a little shaky," says advisor Roger Morgan, "but later in the year we'll have more projects to do."

The Science Club may take an occasional weekend trip to the Exploritorium or the nearby Monterey Bay Aquarium, or they may sit down to discuss experiments, Nobel Prize winners, or newly found scientific data.

The role of the science club was surely felt. "The students helped me set up show-and tell objects for my class." said Mr. Morgan. The club has two students this year working on projects to enter in a Science Fair and Symposium. Mr. Morgan said, "We tinker quite a bit, but we do have two serious projects-one on photo optica and one on acoustics. These are being worked on and will represent Watsonville High School at a Science Fair." The Science Club members felt that they had established a place were students could learn about the world of physics, chemistry, marine biology, or engineering.

The sound of pencils were scraping across paper filled room the room where C.S.F. members were meeting during lunch. A boy in the back of the room stood up and said, "$E=mc_2$."

No, this was not a typical C.S.F. meeting, Most C.S.F. meetings were just like meetings of other clubs. C.S.F. was a group of people who just got good grades and paid attention in class. Mr. Sullivan was the man who helped these students along with the C.S.F. organization. As the sound of pencils was drowned out by the bell ending lunch, the C.S.F. members put their pencils away and walked off to get straight A's.

Many people didn't consider bowling a sport. This statement was far from accurate. Patience and precision were necessary to be a good bowler. This was the purpose of the Alley Catz, a club formed by advisor, "Emperor" Mas Hashimoto 23 years ago to give students at WHS a chance to perfect their bowling skills.

The Alley Catz participated in many activities over the school year. Among these were pizza nights, Easter Grams, bowling tournaments with faculty members, the Spring Fair, and end of the year trips.

This year there were approximately forty members in Alley Catz. Officers for this year were: Cyndy Snyder, president; Carl Jones, vice-president; Scott Smith, secretary; Jenny Wishart, treasurer.

The Alley Catz bowled Wednesdays at 3:30 at Cabrillo Lanes and a good time was had by all.

A Chance at Creativity

The art club was for those students who wished to make statements, had ideas and wished to realize them with a variety of mediums- pencil, paint, prints, and ceramics. Freedom of expression and also basic fundamentals were given to the members of the club. The art club provided a variety of art equipment, and, for those who took the opportunity to join, the chance to become more creative was there waiting for them.

Presiding Class

Seniors year is said to be best time in one's life. A senior had school wired. Now was the time to sit back and gleefully watch the antics of a flustered Freshman. Seniors stayed after class, and talked to a teacher or a friend and never, that's never, worried about being late for next class. Seniors were also rewarded for surviving two things: the onslaught of homework and taking the SAT. If one could survive these two challenges they were definitely eligible for acceptance in the Presiding Class.

Seniors in the Spirit of Things

What has she got on her head?!" That was a familiar reaction from many students as they viewed spirited seniors on hat day during spirit week. Displayed were baseball caps, motorcycle helmets, bonnets, and even the good 'ol Lepord Lodge hats that "Mr. C" used to wear on Happy Days.

Spirit week also prompted seniors to romp through their parent's closets and old boxes of clothes looking for a possible wardrobe for 50's day. "Having these special days to dress up makes coming to school seem more bearable," commented Liz Friesell on Ties and Tennies day. (Liz proudly modeled a polka dot bow tie.)

Unfortunately, all seniors didn't always get into the groove of things. Sheree Boatman felt too embarrassed to dress up and come to school, and Deanna Geers said that she just didn't remember in time to find something to wear. Practical Shane Miller screamed, "I have enough trouble getting to school on time dressed regular!"

College Bound Seniors

Several studious seniors spent Saturday nights at home in the early part of the school year because they were filling out college applications and financial aid forms. "I will be glad when all of these dumb papers are filled out and mailed off!" complained Brian Swan who found himself applying to more than seven schools! "It's very frustrating, and many times I just wanted to throw everything in the garbage and forget about it!" laughed Patti Edelmair. Eric McCauley enjoyed filling out applications. "I have learned a few things about myself that I never knew before!"

Overall, whether seniors were going to college or into the working world, they were looking forward to moving on.

"Being a senior sure is hard work," complained Anna Petroutsas, "I'm glad it's my last year!"

Pumping Iron. One of the many things Seniors did best. One could easily tell when one was near the weight room. It was always crowded with eager young men and the stench of perspiration was overpowering. Proudly, Mike Lewis stated, "Everyday I better myself in every way I can!" Girl's were also quite active in sports (weight-lifting included). Recently we took more interest in taking care of our bodies. We seemed to have taken extreme measures to keeping our health and shape in tip top condition. Cindy Pritchard was a prime example. She worked out regularly and had the muscles to prove it.

Our Senior Class Officers this year were President, Traci Odom; Vice-President, Karen Dutra; Secretary Delyna Cruz, and Treasurer; Camy Coleman. The tasks of holding an office were not very easy. There were jobs to be done, committees to be formed, and money to be raised. The Senior Class also had the responsibility of putting on the Winter Ball and seeing to it that Senior week went well. One knew that their Senior year would not be complete without the Disneyland and Hawaii trips.

Confident Camy Coleman commented, "This was my first year holding an office and though school is more fun, it's a lot more challenging!" Dedicated Delyna Cruz stated, "Holding an office with such a great Senior Class has been more fun than work." Being a class officer was a hard job but someone had to do it. Outstanding Work

Ken Meidl was the Senior Manzanita staff's choice for Outstanding Senior this year. He was born Kenneth Allen Meidl to his parents Robert and Elaine. Ken has lived in Watsonville for all of his eighteen years. In fact, he was born only a block away from where he now lives. Ken is a quiet but diligent worker. He believes that everything we do should be our best effort. He has a personal motto he uses to help him through his busy schedule- "Dedication and Concentration".

Ken is a near 4.0 student who works after school. This year he is conducting an experiment with Thom Dodd at the Moss Landing Marine Lab. He was also a four year Snow-Cat, Vice-President of the Science Club, and a tutor to many students. In his spare time (when he can find it), Ken can be found strumming his guitar, programming his computer, or just trying to relax. He also enjoys being with his friends. "Friends are fun to be with. You share the good times and the bad times with them. You laugh with them and can lean on them."

Even though Ken does well with h studies, he doesn't really like school. H sees it as a "tool" to get to college. H hopes to attend Cal Poly and major in mathematical or scientific field.

"DEDICATION and CONCENTRATION"

Most people who see Ken at scho think of him as a studious and seriou person. His friends, however, will te you he's quite different. You may eve hear the words "easy-going", "re laxed", or "amusing". In fact, whe asked if he had a sense of humor, Ke said, "Sure, I made someone laugh onc . . . "

Legal Loitering

CLOSE UP

There were many hangouts here at Watsonville High School. We could always be sure to see a variety of people in a number of places. For example, Catz Pause was the place to be if we liked to smoke a cigarette or just stand around the little building conversing with friends. The Quad was labeled as the "Social Hangout". Some were almost petrified or cringed at the thought of walking through it. If homework was always on your mind, the library was the place for you. We also had those who knew no seasons and sunbathed on the lawn come winter or summer. No matter what kind of person you were or where you liked to hang out, there was sure to be a place for you at WHS.

LEGAL LABOR

I do it for the money," Shane Miller confided shyly when asked why he worked after school. George Flath giggled, "I do it for the money, too, because I'm saving for a car." Many high school seniors felt the same need to find a part-time job during the school year. Almost all of the students wanted the extra spending money. However, there were a few who had other reasons, too.

"The experience is great!" Fred Cuevas remarked enthusiastically. He also stated, "It gives me something to do right after school. I don't always like to jump right into my homework. Working after school is a nice break from school." Patti Edelmair spoke along the same lines. "Working at the library is nice because of the quiet atmosphere and friendly people."

So many seniors worked over the school year that we found a smiling student at almost every merchant's store in the Watsonville area. Robby Hoff was at Lucky's, George Flath and Richie Baun could be found bagging groceries at Freedom Foods, LeeAnn Alexander cleaned houses a few days a week, Jenifer Georg was at the Public Library ready to help you find the needed materials for that dreaded term paper, and Mimi Scurich could update you on the latest about berries at Gizdich ranches. So, the next time you see your favorite senior walking along, just say, "Hey where do you work?"

¿Dónde?

It's just too darn expensive, "Brian Swan complained when he was asked why he didn't eat lunch downtown more often. Many seniors chose to stick around the campus this year for fear of emptying their pockets to the cashiers at fast food restaurants. "The cafeteria isn't so bad, as long as you eat food that's good for you," explained Jill Skinner.

However, there were still plenty of seniors that briskly walked to their cars and sped away to various eating spots. Mimi Scurich, Liz Frieseell, and Jill Miller enjoyed eating their lunch at a variety of spots around town. "Sometimes we go to Mountain Mike's to have a pizza, or Wendy's to have a burger. It all depends on the mood we're in at the time."

Other hungry seniors liked the idea of having the Catz Pause right across the street. Edward Kelly and Peter Scurich ran over for french fries and cokes when they didn't have the energy to place themselves into their cars, battle traffic, and stand in long lines.

Wherever seniors were eating their lunches, you could bet they were eating wherever they felt most comfortable both physically and financially!

Being A Senior

Being a senior was great. Seniors felt that they were the best - the top of the pile. And they had the right to. They had already gone to this school for three years and were ready to move on to bigger and better things.

Seniors had the greatest times whenever possible. But, the senior year was also really hard. At the beginning of the year some Seniors said, "Oh well, it's my Senior year. I think I'll just kick back and take it easy." But, that's not how it was. The Senior year was the busiest. We had to take our SAT's, fill out those numerous financial aid forms and complete lengthy college applications.

We had some of the most important decisions in our life to make. We needed to have some idea of what we wanted to do once we got out of high school and in our future. So, our Senior year was the most important year, and the one where no matter what types of classes one took, it was the hardest (and funnest) year of all.

Student Aides at WHS!

Do you want a class that is not hard and that doesn't give that much homework? Well, the answer is to become an aid for a teacher who is looking for some help in his or her class.

A lot of Seniors became aids for teachers because they wanted to gain skills to apply in future jobs. There were also positions in the guidance office and at the nurse's office. Max Ramirez was an aid for the nurse's office. He said, "I like to help people and working here gives me a chance to help people when they get hurt."

There were many other classes where students could be aids. In the math classe they helped teachers correct papers and put grades in the grade book. You could have also been an aid for industrial art classes. But for these classes you had to be an advanced student because you had to help other students out in their projects.

For being an aid you got credits and you got the satisfaction of helping people. You also got some teaching experience in case you were thinking of becoming a teache when you graduated from college. Being a teacher's aid at WHS this year was a worth while and rewarding endeavor.

Good Looking

Front and Back," "Side to Side," "a Candy Apple paint job" and Star Wire rims—These were just a few things that made a good looking low rider. Perhaps the most important feature on this year's low riders were their stereo systems which included woffers and equalizers. These extras insured car owners that their low riders were heard as well as seen.

The low rider cars cruised around both during lunch and after school. Many people sat on the rails by the Foreign Language Department just to see the low riders pass by and put on their hydrolics and play their loud stereo systems.

Low Rider cars were definitely a part of WHS life this year. In fact, two low riders came out in the homecoming parade this November. These two cars were from the Crusader's Car Club. Two of the best known clubs as WHS this year were the City Cruisers and the Crusaders. These were mostly made up of seniors and high school dropouts.

Let's face it, WHS would not have been the same without these "low," "slow," "loud," and "showy" cars that provided an entertainment for the driver as well as the spectators.

High Honors

If you have been a student attending Watsonville High and haven't at least heard of Jennifer George, you've missed out! Besides having a terrific sense of humor and being one of the nicest individuals one could meet, she has been actively involved in school functions. Jennifer has helped out with the drama productions by handling spots and ushering. In musicals she has played french horn in the pit orchestra. Other clubs she has been involved with are the Art club, Math Club, C.S.F., and the Pipin. A large part of her life is playing in band; she plays flute/ french horn and has served as secretary, vice-president, and president. Jennifer is known as one of the best students on campus by both students and teachers. She is a person the class of '85 can be proud of!

Pleading Innocent

It all began when the stork payed a visit to our parents with a blessed little bundle of bald, cushy, crying joy. Little did they know how much trouble those cute little toddlers would cause—pulling out books from shelves, standing in front of the T.V. at all of the right moments (like when the favored football team made a touchdown), falling down stairs, and gurgling and spitting-up all over their new clothes.

Our parents wondered if we would survive our first day of Kindergarten and the first grade. This concern lasted through Jr. High. Most of their fears lessened and their proudest moment came when they saw the Senior class of Watsonville High receive their diplomas on June 14, 1985. Our parents realized that we weren't cooing and crawling anymore. Their babies had broadened their horizons and were entering the real world.

Conspirators

Juniors Plot Successfully

They conspired their way through their Junior year, and they will be remembered by doing it with class and doing it successfully. They were the Junior class of 1985. They had the best people on their side and each one played a very important role in the case.

The conspirators that were most easily seen were those who bragged to the other classes that they were finally upperclassmen. They showed off by "strutting their stuff" when they walked to class and by cruising around school during lunch time.

The conspirators who "stayed in the dark" were those Juniors who, night after night, always did their homework. These Juniors conspired for the future.

Of course, we will always remember those Juniors who influenced the fashion trend. Even if they didn't talk much, their earrings, bleached hair, and bright colors spoke for them.

And, then there were so many other secret conspiracies that went on that were too personal to be told, except maybe to a best friend.

Perhaps WHS won't ever show as much spirit as the Juniors displayed at the rallies and at homecoming, as they conspired to be the best.

Whatever the verdict was this year, the Conspirators themselves won't forget the many friends that they made through their years at Watsonville High, for the memories will always be there.

Drenched From Head To Toe

What was dripping wet, covered with suds and shivered? Well, if you guessed the students at the Junior car wash you've guessed right.

The students who participated in the car wash consisted of fifteen enthusiastic Juniors. These hard working Juniors earned over $200.00 by dedicating an entire Saturday afternoon to washing and scrubbing filthy cars, trucks, and vans.

Vicki Mano said, "I'm glad it turned out the way it did, successful." Another Junior, Greg Bjur said, "It was lots of fun. We even got to goof-off towards the end."

All in all, the Junior class washed seventy vehicles. They made money, and more importantly, even had a good time doing it!

Lockers: What A Mess!

"CONDEMNED, DO NOT OPEN!" by order of Sanitation Department. Should there have been a sign posted on your locker saying that? Did you dread opening that "Pandora's Locker" and having an avalanche of books fall on your feet? Many lockers on campus had a reputation of being like an old sweatsock—dirty and smelly.

"I hate lockers on the bottom! I even had orange juice fall on my head."

Lisa da Silva

In most lockers that lived up to that reputation, there was sweaty P.E. clothes from last basketball season, moldy peanut-butter sandwiches from the first day of high school, and other disgusting things that you wouldn't want to have touched with a ten foot pole.

"If they are stuck you can never find someone to get them open. I think they need to be fixed and painted!"

Carissa Hernandez

The lockers were not only small, they were crowded, especially if you shared with an Einstein who took classes that all had four-inch thick books. It got worse if your locker was on the bottom aisle and the locker above was an even bigger catastrophe than yours. Everytime you tried to open your locker the considerate people above hit you, accidently of course, while they were trying to get their locker to open. After numerous tries, they usually got it open and a volcano of books erupted on your head. Finally, realizing that it was one of those days, you wished that you had just stayed home, under the covers.

"I have four people sharing my locker with me. I get so frustrated. I can't even get my books out."

Reina Sales

There was one good thing about having a locker this year. It served as the old reliable excuse for being late to class. The line, "My locker was jammed," scored highest in 1985's list of excuses for being late to class!

1. Pam Webb attempts to open her locker while managing to stand on crutches. 2. Frank Perez is happy to see that his locker is in a better condition that it was last period. 3. Eileen Mattos pushes her overflowing locker while Anne Kristich gazes in amazement.

2) Lucy Luis and Lisa Desilva spending another yea together.

Spirit Takes Over

2:35, and the Junior class was getting restless. The noise, spirit, and emotions started to build. Then it began. An outburst of noise reached a point in which a roar of cheers became one big word "J-U-N-I-O-R-S". At 2:39 the class competition started. The wild and rowdy juniors sent their most spirited showing classmates to the center of the gym. The tension on the Junior's faces began to turn into enthusiasm and pride. A shout from the Junior section gave confidence which helped win the class competition. The time was 2:54. The rally came to a close. The Juniors were #1, the best and the rowdiest of all the four classes at WHS.

Juniors . . . On the Loose

It was 12:00 P.M. and the hunger pangs pawed at your empty middle. You looked up at the clock and began your count down. Your mind wandered from the subject being taught and you were transported to a restaurant, surrounded by piles of juicy hamburgers, tender steaks, ice cream and sundaes . . . Your mouth began to water. Saliva dripped from the corners of your lips onto your jacket. You glanced up at the clock; the time was now 12:00 P.M. You wondered if you would be able to contain your hunger much longer. Your stomach growled aloud. Faces turned in your direction and accusing eyes caused you to blush. Your hunger was growin more intense and you became irritated. Cold swea poured down the back of your spine and, in des peration, you noticed that the sweat which seepe into your mouth was salty.

The bell sounded! You got up as casually as possibl and walked out the classroom door. Then, you be came one of the ravenous Juniors who, free fro the confinement of the classroom, were on th loose, out searching for their lunch and not lettin anyone or anything stand in their way!

The Late Night Sleeper Homework is Hard Work

Staying home on a fun filled Saturday night, missing the hottest bash of the year, or maybe just wanting to sit down to relax and watch your favorite T.V. show but not being able to because of one thing-HOMEWORK! It seemed like homework interfered with all of our sacred social time, our goofing-off time, and especially our sleep time when we stayed up until one a.m. studying for our desperately needed A's. You could easily recognize the people who stayed up all through the night. They looked like racoons with dark circles around their half opened, bloodshot eyes.

It was also easy to spot a person who didn't study. They ran to class, pulled out their unorganized notes and tried to study while the test was being passed out. At such times, horror could be seen in their faces.

Homework was a big part of all of our lives. Through it we gained the knowledge we needed, we satisfied the hunger for teachers to give us homework, and last, but not least, through homework, we were able to get our long awaited diplomas.

Homecoming ''84''
The Junior Way

Homecoming 1984 was the best in a long time. The reason, of course, was that we won all three games, Frosh, JV, and Varsity. Everyone felt the pride of being a Wildcat, and once again the Juniors showed that they were the craziest and most spirited of all of the classes.

The Junior float was the best that the class had ever made. Many hours of hard work and dedication were shown in the finished product. Despite its third place ribbon, the Junior float was the class's best effort.

With three years of experience and the Juniors' very devoted float builders, they have high hopes, that as Seniors, Homecoming 1985 will bring the Blue Ribbon for the best because the class of ''86'' is the best.

We Are On Our Way!

Do you believe this year is over? It's hard to imagine that in just three months we will be Seniors. We've all waited such a long time to be called by that prestigious title: a Senior.

Our Junior year was a very memorable one as we all got involved in the spirit of things. It's hard to remember back to when we were Freshmen, with blank expressions on our faces because all of the upper-classmen were putting us down. No one better try that now!

Not only were we more spirited this year, but we also sponsored many great events such as the Junior Car Wash and the grandest event of all, "The Junior Prom." Thanks to the dedication and all of the hard work of the officers, Stephanie Valentine, President, Vicki Mano, Vice President, Jane Muir, Treasurer, and Molly Crumpton, Secretary, this had to have been the most successful prom the Junior class had ever put on!

During our Junior year we had fun—we had our cars and we didn't need to worry about the DMV or Mr. Haney's "BIGGIE", his very hard and frustrating driving test! We also didn't need to worry about the dreaded SAT test or what we were going to do after finishing high school. Being a Junior was fantastic, but being a Senior will be awesome! We're on our way!

Sophomores

Being a Sophomore.

"Thank God we're not freshmen," we thought, but we knew that being a sophomore was a lot harder than being a freshman.

From that very first day, teachers were piling on the work. It seemed like they were purposely picking on us, but the fact was that they were only preparing us for the future.

"Being a sophomore is different than being a freshman because you get more respect. Also, the teachers expect a lot more from you." said Laura Geiger.

During the sophomore year, teachers expect much more of the students; and from the state there were numerous new requirements. We noticed that we received a lot more responsibility—no more turning papers in late, no sleeping in class and definitely no going to study center for us!

"As a sophomore, I feel that is it a lot more fun. We are treated more fairly," said Chris Matthews.

We soon found out that many sophomores really straightened up their act and really started to get serious about making the grades.

1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th finally 5th period rolled around. Lunch was the one time of day that students had control of their lives. You might have seen happy couples holding hands and sneaking in a secret kiss. "One of the main reasons we students loved lunch so much was that we got to be with our boyfriends," said Venus Miller. But, Jeff Prater added "I like lunch because get a break from my classes, get to eat, and go to the bathroom." Mike Hollesen said, "I like lunch because I go to Catz Pause to see all my friends and eat."

Some of the favorite places to hang were Catz Pause, the quad, 7-11, and the hot dog stand. John Bettencourt said, "I like the quad because all my friends are there." But, no matter who you were, lunch was the one break you always looked forward to.

"A Typical Morning"

Oh no! It was 6:30 A.M. and the alarm hadn't gone off. Worse than that, you only had half an hour before the school bus came.

You jumped out of bed and rushed into the bathroom, turned on the shower, but didn't have the time to wait for it to get hot. The cold water woke you up fast.

Ten minutes later, you were back in your room blow drying your hair as you tried to decide on an outfit. Finally, your hair was perfect and you had figured out what to wear.

You looked at the clock; only ten more minutes until you had to catch the bus.

Finally, you were dressed and ready to go. With only two minutes to spare, you left the house only to find that you had missed the bus.

You rushed back to the house and asked your mom if she could take you to school. She looked at you funny, then with a smile on her face, told you that this was the first day of vacation.

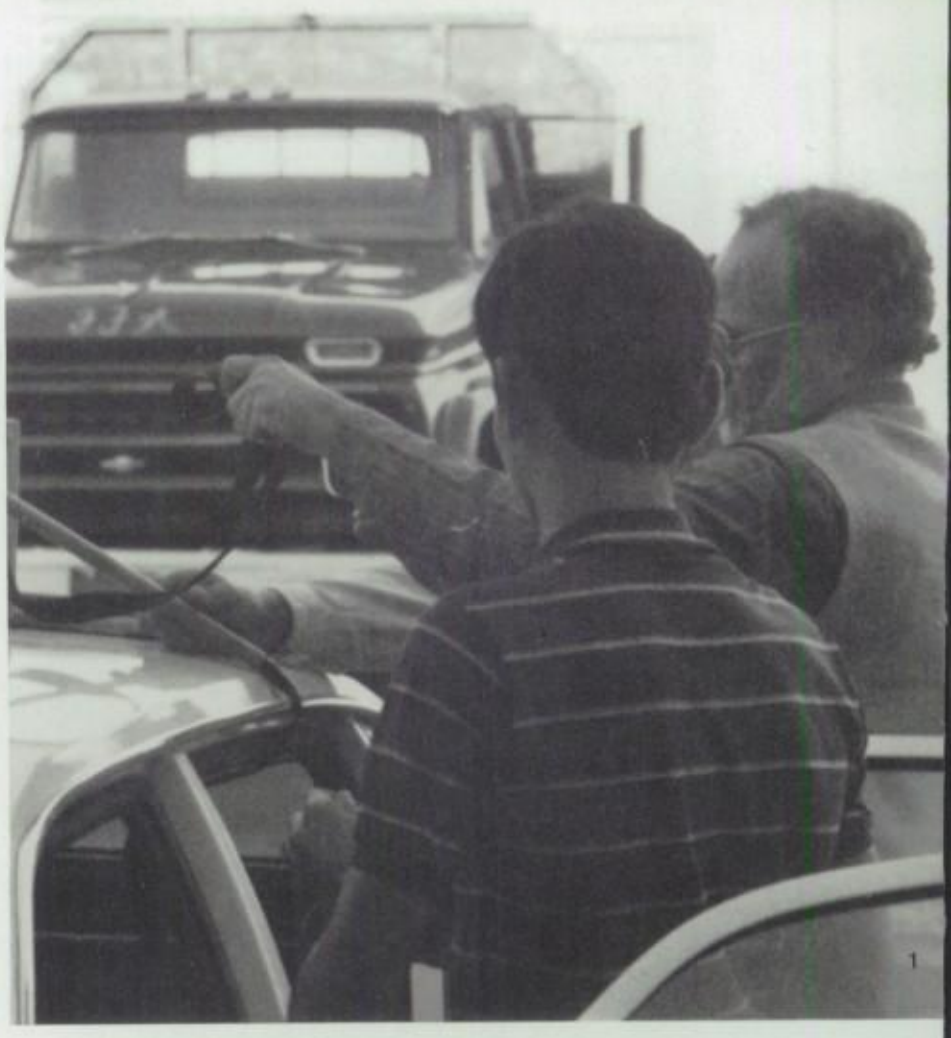
Making the Streets A Safer Place



Ah, come on, Mr. Haney. Let me drive today, please!", said many students who wanted to show off how well they could drive. All of the driver education teachers heard this plea from students who thought that driving was a cinch.

Many of these students changed their tune when members of the DMV came to the classroom to give the big driver's test. It was then that the truth came out and we soon learned who could and who could not drive safely through the streets of our community.

Mr. Haney acknowledged that driving is not a simple task. "Out of all of you who take the test only 50% of you will fail," he liked to joke.

All of the instructors who taught driver's education this year were happy that their careful screening of potential drivers probably saved lives. While failing the test may have disappointed many of the students, those who did pass were glad that they did not have to share the road with those who didn't.

The Final Bell

Five, four, three, two, one, finally the last bell of the day rang and you were free.

When the people here at WHS got out of school, they enjoyed doing many different things.

Some people enjoyed playing sports. On the way out to the bus stop or parking lot you saw these people in shorts and sweats standing in front of the field house.

Other people liked to go to parties and dances. This way, they could enjoy themselves and have a great time.

And, there were those people here at WHS who liked to just sit and read, use computers, or just hang out with their friends.

IT'S FRIDAY!

"But, Mr. Hashimoto, no one ever does homework on the weekend," said a students who hated to do homework anyway.

The majority of students said they hated school but when it came down to it, Jon Oakden said "I just come to get out of the house." Eileen Chavet agreed. "I go to school because it's a state law, and plus if I didn't I wouldn't be able to go out!"

Other students said that they go to school because they like school and they come to see their friends. Most of the students had to admit that, whether they loved or hated school, after five hard days of studying or cutting, they were all ready for the weekend to do what they wanted.

The Great American Pastime

Entertainment here at Watsonville came in many forms. Different groups of people enjoyed doing a lot of different things.

Some people liked to listen to music. There were various types of music, like soul, rock, heavy metal, and punk. What we listened to depended on what we liked.

The partying types couldn't resist going to parties, and dances. Some of them were given by the school, and some of them were given by people who just liked to spend time with their friends.

Some people liked to just read a book, watch T.V. or work with their computer. On the other hand, there were some people who didn't have much time because they worked. And that meant that they couldn't do a lot.

It didn't really matter what you did, as long as you were enjoying yourself.

THE GOOD OL' DAYS

The school year is done,
but summertime has only begun.
We'll say "So Long"
To sweethearts and friends,
But after all we'll see them again.
Cleaning out lockers,
Will be worst of all,
But then again,
It will be a ball.
Seeing old papers,
Especially those C'S
"Oh, my God there are my keys!"
Digging through once again,
I came across my best friends pen.
One potato chip,
Mr. Sheckman will flip.
Old memories,
will always be!

Active at WHS

Getting involved here at Watsonville High was not a hard thing to do. There were many things a person could have done, from joining a club to participating in sports. By way of clubs, there were the English, Math, Computer, and Bowling clubs, just to name a few. As for sports, there were a lot of varieties such as baseball, football, basketball and track. You could also have taken part in the student council. Another choice for getting involved was the newspaper. They would always welcome a good Photographer or writer. Also, we cannot forget the Manzanita. If you were willing to put out a lot of hard work, then this class was a good choice for you.

First Offense

Eyes, People, and the First day of School

Eyes, all we saw were eyes. These eyes belonged to Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores who were watching us as we walked to our first class at high school. As we crossed the quad, we concentrated on trying not to stumble and fall down in front of everyone. We saw some friends and went to talk to them. We stood together and tried not to look like freshmen. A while later we tried to find our first class, but we were so lost that we had to ask a Sophomore where it was. Finally we found our homeroom and waited for the bell to ring.

Does this sound like your first day of being a Freshmen? Don't worry! Everyone has gone through something like this. (If you didn't you're lucky). When a Freshmen starts high school he/she is sometimes overpowered by all of the new things. But, usually Freshmen just feel out of place. Most freshmen eventually meet new friends, but they always spend the rest of the year wondering how much longer they will have to be Freshmen!

I Want To Go Home

And that's just what Watsonville High did November 9, 1984. Everyone who was at school could feel the electricity being given off. As the start of the 1984 Homecoming rally neared, everything intensified even more. When the rally began everybody's emotions exploded.

Then, the float presentation started and the Freshmen held their breath. They knew they had done a good job. But, would it be good enough? The excitement multiplied as the winners were announced: Sophomores fourth, Juniors third and now only the Seniors to beat. Then we heard, second place, Class of '88.

As the Seniors jumped for joy, the Freshmen representatives, Ryan Tao and Matt Jones, gladly accepted the second place ribbon. The Freshmen football team was especially enthusiastic because the day before they had destroyed their formidable opponent, Soquel High School 42-6. They were hoping for a three game Homecoming sweep. Our wish came true with two major upsets over Harbor High School. Homecoming was a new activity to the Freshmen class.

And we were proud that we held our ground exceptionally well.

Brain Waves

As freshmen we hardly got a choice. We got what we got and that was that. So being a freshman at WHS wasn't an easy task to accomplish this year. As freshman we were required to take certain classes like Math, Physical Education, English, and World Civilization.

Taking these classes wasn't a minor task because most of them were very hard. We could definitely tell the difference in the amount of homework at WHS compared to Jr high whether we came from Salsipuedes, E.A. Hall, Rolling Hills, Aptos, Pajaro, or Notre Dame. Not only was the work harder, but the fact that we were finally in high school, was also hard to believe.

As a freshman, we had a couple of choices as to what elective classes we wanted to take, like Shop, Food & Sewing, or Band. So, not all the the classes at WHS were hard. We could take some fun classes, also to make going to class somewhat more enjoyable. Having an understanding teacher was also important because, if we didn't, it made our classes harder to get through. But, if we had cool teachers, class was much more enjoyable. It was rugged and tough, but being a freshman wasn't all that bad, was it?

Noon Recess

The mold and slime slowly crawled across the pitted surface of the gray green patty. You shook your head to clear your mind of that horrible day dream and bit into your lunch while you sat in the sun.

To many people, lunch was as horrible as that day dream. Still, most people got a pretty good lunch. The people even ate their lunch in line, but it was better than nothing.

Some people decided to do something about getting a good lunch so they went to different places considered the royality of fast foods, Dairy Queen, 7-11, Catz Pause, and Burger King. At fast food places you got many things such as a good hamburger, hot french fries or some cool ice cream. So, you shouldn't throw yourself off a cliff. It could be worse. Or could it?

We Promised

We promised to do everything possible to make this the best year ever. You heard a lot of this at Freshmen election time. There was heated competition for the office of Vice President. But in the end Jason Ura beat out Linda Knego. Mathew Jones easily defeated his competition, Tina Segura, to become President. Dina Rodriguez also won easily because of the lack of competition. Linda Duran beat out the rest of the field to hold the office of Treasurer.

Not every Freshmen showed up to vote this year. So, since the candidates did not win a majority, they had another election. The turnout was slightly larger but the results ended up the same. So, let's support them for the rest of the year. Due to unknown circumstances, Linda Duran resigned. Immediately afterwards Kim Curutan graciously accepted the position of Treasurer.

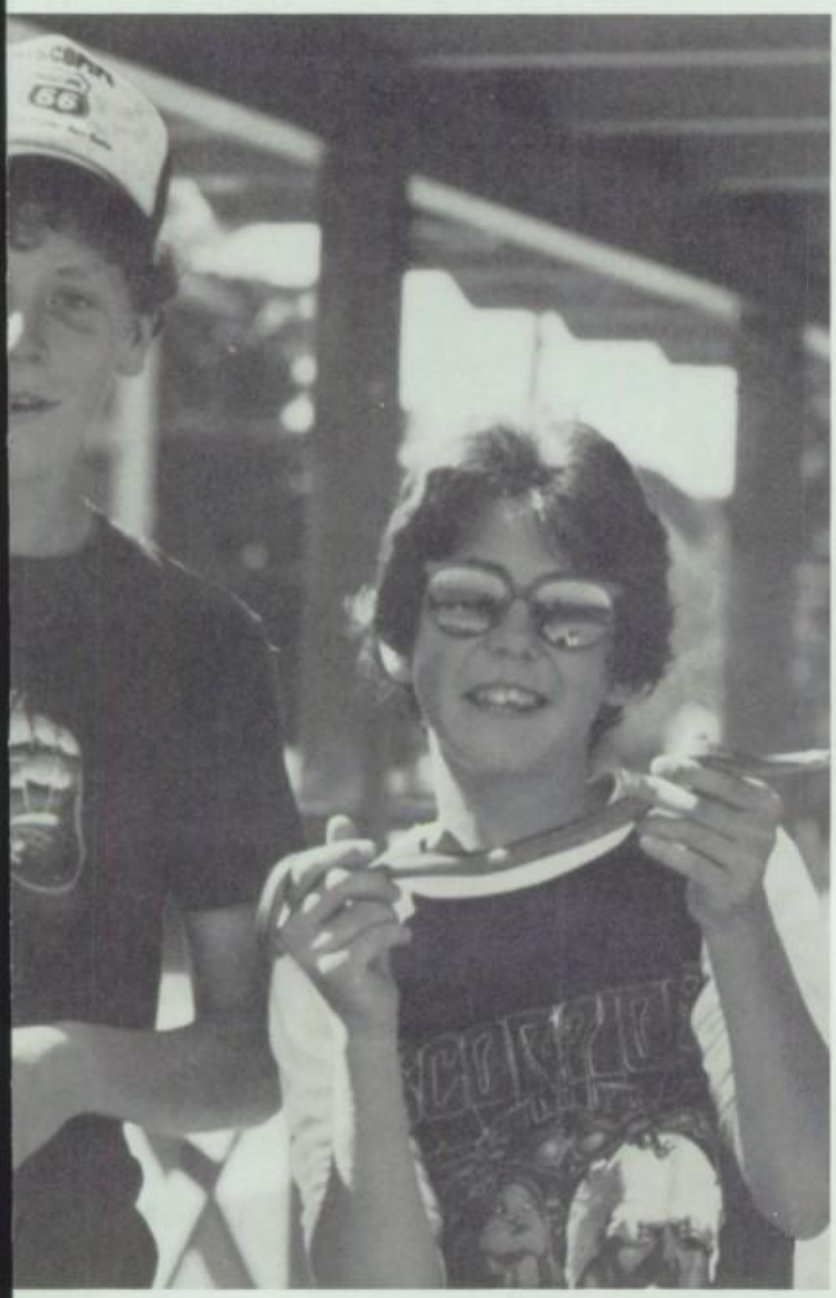
What's Hot and What's Not

CLOSE UP



As the school year went by people changed a lot. But, nobody changed as much as the kids did. They never liked one thing for very long. For instance, they loved fashions. Kids were always wearing different types of clothes whether it was florescent shoes, checkered pants, or fashionable shirts which changed with the times. One thing was certain, they kept the merchants who sold the clothes in very good financial shape.

Hanging out in the quad this year was still a popular thing if you were not a freshman. You see, if you were a freshman and you made the mistake of hanging out in the quad, you were liable to get hit by an egg or a carton of milk. Even so, some brave freshman still sat in the quad dodging things flying all over the place.

Nobody could live without music whether it was Rock & Roll, Hip Hop, Disco, Country, or Soul. This year Watsonville had a taste of music when the Ronnie James Dio played at the fairgrounds. Different people liked different music, but Rock & Roll was probably the most popular music around, although Hip Hop music wasn't far behind. Fads, fashion & music were just some of the things that were always changing, but still remained as high priorities at Watsonville High.

"Money makes the world go round"

The coin spiraled into the air and landed on the sweaty palm of one of the many Freshmen. Then, after a pause, the Freshman peered under it and said, "Call it". Another Freshman, standing nearby, whispered, "Even". Two hands uncovered two coins, one heads and one tails. The first Freshman breathed a sigh of relief, and wandered down the hallway.

This was one of the many ways a Freshman could earn or lose money at WHS this year. To get money, some Freshmen like Gordon Pesl said, "I get money from working around the house." Most Freshmen just asked their parents for financial help. Elisa Martinez claimed, "I ask my Dad because my Mom never gives me any money." Matt McCollum applauded loving relatives who helped him out of binds. He said, "I get most of my money from my grandparents". For most Freshmen getting money was the hard part, but spending it was easy. You could buy records clothes or other things.

So don't ask a Freshman how they spent their money unless you are ready to listen for a long, long time.

''Hang Out''

You try to suppress the animal instinct to hide, to find shelter—a hole in the ground, anywhere to get away. This along with strength in numbers was often labled as "Hanging out".

One of the first things Freshmen did was to find a place to hang out. Any place could be a hang out. An especially good hangout was 7-11 because as Ramon Chavez says, "You can buy Nachos there". According to Anthony Martinez, a good hangout was by the lockers "because it was where I met my friends before school". Still many people didn't hangout in any one place because, as Allyn Judd put it, "I'm always too busy to hangout anywhere". It didn't matter if your hangout was a place or a state of mind, everybody was hanging out.

It's Finally Over

It's finally over. That's what most of the freshman at WHS probably thought at the end of the this year. The first year of high school is always the hardest. That's why most of the freshman were relieved when it was over.

As freshman we had our ups and downs. Being freshman, there was always a lot of mischief going on, like when upper classmen made fun of us or gave us wrong directions.

But, being a freshman had its good parts too. There were a lot more opportunities in high school than in Jr. High. You could try out for school sports, join clubs, band and fun things like that.

This year many freshman participated in sports, whether it was the football, water polo, basketball, wrestling, or swimming teams. And, all did relatively well.

There were also a lot of different clubs to choose from like, the Math club, Alleycatz, Snowcatz, Cycatz, and many others.

Most of the school year consisted of the ordinary, but it did have its high points. As freshman we majored in lunch and never went out for any sports or joined any clubs. Not doing this made life pretty boring, but as the year got underway most freshman realized that just sitting around was dull and we decided to do something about it. We participated in sports and joined different clubs. Doing this made school much more enjoyable. Hopefully, next year more freshman will realize that just sitting around doesn't cut the cake.

Willful Misconduct

Winning & Losing and the pain that goes with each

Just what does it feel like to play for the best team in the league? Pretty good, or does it create more pain, trying not to lose last year's title. What about when you lose? Do you feel like you've let everyone down? Here's what a few of our athletes had to say about this..."When we win we're happy and satisfied with our accomplishments, but when we lose, as long as we've played our best, then we're really not losers." Matt Jamie, junior. "When we win I feel really elated and on a natural high. I hate losing, but as long as I have played my best, I'm pretty much content." Jennifer Ura, Junior. "I feel bad when we lose, but I feel especially bad when we've played hard and lost by only a narrow margin." Todd Wilson, Freshmen "When we win we know that we've proved to the other team that we're better. But losing reminds us that we have to work for our success." Brenda Urciaga, Junior & Lisa Hardy, Junior,

How do you feel about losing/winning? Losing by only a few points is one of toughest ways to go. When you know that if only...you had kicked that field goal, made that free throw, or caught that fly ball, or tried just a fraction harder, you would have been victorious. It's knowing that you almost dominated that eats away at your sub-conscious. But it was because of all of those close losses that you won in the end. And it was because you didn't say what if...but did it, that makes those games so special.

It is hard to win to? How do you feel when you're playing on a team that has had seven league championships in a row. Do you feel pressured to win? The stress level for winning teams is even greater than that for losing teams because you know you have to win or you'll be ridiculed for losing the ever so long title, "All league champion."

Setting a New Tradition

A legacy? Could it be that beating a first place team at our homecoming game will start a new tradition? And, if so, will this tradition pay off in future victories? After a strong season for the Wildcatz many questions arose. The 1984 season began with a goal, set by the team, to "always win the fourth quarter." With this goal and a new head coach, Varsity Football this year underwent some drastic changes in the program. "We Won!" And what a fun year it was! "The enthusiasm and the positive attitudes of the players made a game what it should be . . . fun," stated head coach, Ron Myers. But, somehow, winning enlarges the definition of fun "n. to provide amusement, entertainment, or enjoyment." And, this year the Catz and their fans had it all; the entertainment of football and the enjoyment of winning those two games brought out that good old Wildcat spirit, and showed um' what fun was all about.

The team accomplished this by working together, but every team has its stars; this year's were as follows: The "Golden Helmet Award" and "MVP" went to Mike Lewis, "Student Athlete" was Brian Swan, and "Most Inspirational" was Joey Bañuelos. Team captains were Paul DeOcampo and Mike Lewis.

The returning players on the team are expecting to see all of their returning fans, along with a great deal more to cheer them into a winning season. The senior players on the team left a legacy this year that the Wildcatz hope will become a tradition, a tradition that will give the Catz their well deserved and well awaited VICTORY!

THEY WERE HOT!! THIS YEAR

A tough act to follow, that was the JV football team. Being on the JV football team was a big responsibility because they had to play well to keep up with the Varsity.

The Junior Varsity team played Palma, Gonzales, Aptos, SLV, Soquel, North County, Santa Cruz, and Harbor. One of the hardest things about playing on the JV team was that they had to play on the same night as the Varsity. They felt that they had to get the night off to a good start which sometimes wasn't easy.

It was nearing the end of the season and the JV team was 1-4-1. The JV played Santa Cruz and stunningly beat them 20-0 and they were then 2-4-1. The JV's last game was against Harbor and it was extra special since it was homecoming; they really needed to win and they did! They destroyed Harbor 28-0. This put their record at 3-4-1.

Look out! Here comes the freshman football team!! The freshman football team schedule wasn't an easy one. They had to play Palma, Gonzales, Seaside, Salinas, North County, and Soquel.

Most of the season went by rather quickly. There were two games left and the freshman team was 3-4. They had to win their last two games against Gonzales and Soquel to go over 500, which they did.

Will they continue their winning ways next year? We wish them lots of luck!!!

Fun in the Sun

We had a good chance to go to CCS this year because most of the returning players were seniors. All players did extremely well against the other teams in the division.

Louie Mata, the coach, did the best he could to better every player with the team in the amount of time he had in the season. Even though water polo didn't win any of its games this year, they had fun trying and hope to better the record by next year.

It isn't easy to throw a ball in four feet of water and at the same time try to hold yourself up. A few of the key players were: Gerry Hashimoto, Scott Moore, Norman Mireles, and the new ex-change student from Italy, Andre Thomas.

The Winning Way

The 1984-85 soccer team captured its eighth straight league title on Feb. 6, 1985 with a 4 to 2 victory over the Soquel Knights.

The team was led by seniors Ismael Gomez and Elman Silva. Ismael was a 3 starter at his right wing position; he led the league in scoring with sixteen goals in twelve games. Elman Salva was the sweeper and defensive standout for the championship team that gave the opposition goal per game.

Senior Tony Martin, second on the team in goals scored with 7, and Angel Estrada were great contributors to the prolific cat offense. Art Rodriquez and Alberto Rivera were senior midfielders that gave the Wildcatz their relentless pressure and movement that the team is known for. Seniors David Medina, Tony Navarro, and Juan Ramon were the defenders that gave the 1984-85 champions the fastest and most aggressive defense in the league.

This fine group of senior athletes along with outstanding juniors, Richard Silva, Luis Murillo, Jose Vazquez, Bryan Charters, and sophomore Ralph Dias, plus the strong bench play of Mike Lewis, Sergio Chavez, Jamie Reuteira, Leo Paz, Jesse Rocha, Jamie Valenzuela, and Juan Barba have the Wildcatz a league record of 10-0-3. and a season record of 13-1-5.

Like all Watsonville soccer teams, the 84-85 team represented our school and our league with a good showing in the C.C.S. playoff.

CATZ ARE ON THE RUN

This year's Cross Country team turned out to be a success. At pinto ke Park the Cross Country team set w records for next year's Cross Coun- team to beat.

The records were set by: Varsity run- Armando Rameriz, F/S Lionel Bairagan. Also, the varsity relay team set a new record by adding the top five team runners together in the same race.

When the varsity team went to CCS the only team member that placed was Armando Rameriz. He took 26th place.

The girls on the team did quite will even though they did not place. We had an excellent team this year. They had an excellent attitude toward running. Mr. Liekm said he had a great group of runners. Hope to see the new records broken this year to be broken again next year.

Taking it to the Court

The Watsonville High School girls tennis team had an enjoyable season. They benefited from the long, hard everyday practices and had fun competing against the highly experienced teams of the S.C.C.A.L. league. Well conducted and experienced teams, such as Aptos and Santa Cruz, make a winning record a high but not impossible goal to accomplish. The team is losing five of its finest Seniors, but the remaining players have a strong ambition to make it to the top of the S.C.C.A.L. ladder. Even though the S.C.C.A.L. is such a high caliber of competition, the girls played tough to the end to finish the season with a 3-7 record.

Working together as a team, they hope to raise their record by next year. A few of the team stars were: MVP, went to Patti Edelmeir, Student Athlete was Delyna Cruz, and the Most Inspirational was Toni Marinovich.

Catz Claim The Proven Facts

Who's the swim coach going to be?

At the beginning of this school year everyone was asking, is it a lady or a man. Well, it turned out to be a lady by the name of Saxon Jones Jonson. She preferred to be called Saxon. Saxon got this job because of her experience in swimming and knowing how to coach the sport. She was also head coach for the Watsonville side of the Santa Cruz County Aquatic Club. Mr. Gallino, Athletic Director, knew she had a lot of experience in coaching both girls and boys. Saxon's goals here are to work and have fun and at the same time to build a better school record of wins for Watsonville High School.

Saxon enjoyed coaching the girls' swim team. She also said that the season went fast for her, and before she knew it, it was all over. There was tremendous improvement from all the girls.

Key participants in diving were, Christy Delfino, Susie Thompson & Moreen Bolington. On J.V. we had Carrie Davison & Moreen Bolington. We had some stars on the Varsity team. Lorena Henriques & Christy Delfino stood out as top competitors.

The Varsity records were no wins, but we were very close in some meets. The J.V. had one win and the rest losses. There were thirty five swimmers on the whole team.

All in all, Saxon Jones Johnson has proved to be a unique coach. We did well this year and should prove to be a formidable team next season.

Setting up the Evidence

This year the Watsonville high school Volleyball team was managed under new coaches, Frank Ragsac and Scott Akimoto. They coached very well for the team. The coaches taught the team a lot this year.

The varsity team, with coach Frank Ragsac, turned out to be a very hot team this year. Coach Ragsac really got the team up to its standard qualities. The team was ready for this year's games against, Harbor, NMC, and Soquel. The varsity did very well against all the teams they played.

Scott Akimoto, the JV coach, did a good job of teaching the Freshman and Sophomores how to be aggressive and not to be afraid of the ball. He wanted them all to get into the game. Both coaches did an excellent job.

Watsonville might not have won a lot of games, but they out—played most of the league. On the Varsity team there were two all league players. They were, Jennifer Ura and Brenda Urciaga. Everyone on the JV team did great, but the key player was Claudia Pacheco. She was quite a leader. Linda Morgan said, "It would have been better if we would have won, but it was fun trying."

CLOSE UP

Superstitious Evidence

How do you feel about superstitions? Do you believe in them? Our sports program certainly does.

Just about everyone at the Friday night football games was seen with a yarn voodo doll with swords or spears stuck into it hanging around their necks. To obtain one of these "original" dolls one had to first find a spiritleader. She usually carried around 15 to 20 of these various sized dolls and sold them for 50¢. However, she almost never had change for your dollar and that's why most people wore two.

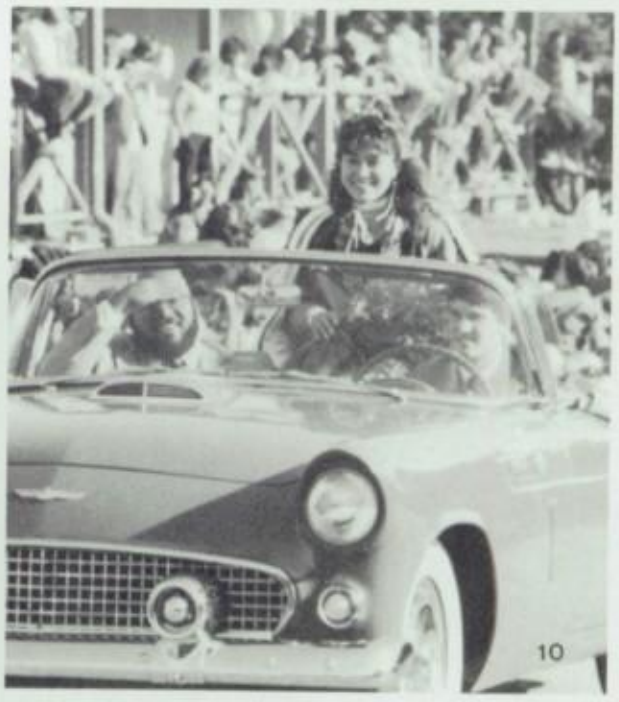
Another well known sports tradition at WHS was having members of the team dress alike on game days. They either wore jerseys and jeans (501's of course), sweats, matching jackets or sweat shirts, or they went all out and dressed up with ties and everything.

But, one of the most exciting superstitions Watsonville High School had, athletes as well as audience, was over who the opponent was . . . Did you ever notice how many more people showed up at the Aptos games? Maybe that was because Aptos High is Watsonville's chief rival. Players gave just about anything to win a big game against Aptos. Didn't you hear about what happened to their school before the big game? Do you mean you didn't know that over 40 tombstones with every single players name on them were set up around Aptos High School? And, if you didn't notice how tense the players were before competing against our rival school, you just weren't in the spirit.

Dressing up for spirit week and wearing black and gold on homecoming were also ways of expressing your spirit and part of the traditional WHS ways.

Are you superstitious? Here's a little test to help you decide: 1) Do you own more than five voodo dolls? 2) Did you attend the Aptos game only? 3) Did you help make your homecoming float condemning the pirates? 4) Did you dress up for any of the spirit week days? 5) Did you know about the tombstones? 6) Did you wear black and gold and have a black and gold balloon for homecoming?

Well how did you do? Did you answer "yes" to more than four questions? Now, how do you feel about traditions, like our annual homecoming parade where the queen rode in a luxurious convertible car. And let's not forget the cheerleaders' fire engine. What about class competition at the rallies or decorating your class section? These were all a part of WHS sports program in the 1984/1985 and you were a part of it weren't you?!?



) The Watsonville soccer teams wear their sweat hirts to the ralley. 2) Class competition at the omecoming rally was eating a piece of licorice. 3) 'arsity Basketball in their shirts. Don't they look interested? 4) A dress up day for the football team. 5) Our wrestling team wears their jackets. 6) Our football team wore jerseys at homecoming. 7) Look at all those balloons! 8) Our new tradition, Willie spins his basketball at a time out for the Catz. 9) Wow! what a fire engine. 10) Our big parade, what a great day that turned out to be!

The Grand Finale

What a way to end the season with an unexpected victory over the Soquel Knights at the 1985 Basketball homecoming game. Could this be the beginning of a successful program for next year? "The players did try to set the tone for the program they had hoped to build," stated Head Coach Linney.

The team is losing four valuable seniors this year, Sigi Ceballos, Peter Scurich, Edward Kelly, and Art Vargas, but will still be returning next year with its ever powerful Juniors and Sophomore,

Tom Sglay. This group of players had quite a season this year as they traveled to Hawaii. The trip gave the Catz the opportunity to meet new friends and play in a new type of environment. The players attended a luau with other schools who were on the island. They also spent a day body surfing at the beach and later that night won their second game against Campbell. The Catz hung tough and played with great intensity all season with their final reward being their exciting win at homecoming.

No Strings Attached

Just what makes our basketball team jump so high? During the basketball game, spectators could almost see imaginary strings attached to the players that pulled them up over the outstreched hands of their opponents to discard the ball into the basket. The viewers watched, waited, and cheered them on as the Wildcatz sprang into each game with suprising results.

Although they were outsized a little by their opponents, the Ctaz leaped, jumped, and scored their way into a great season to prove that, "Size wise", there was no problem.

The junior varsity basketball team this year was headed by Coach Manabe, and the freshmen team by Coach Hubbard. Bill was the official manager of all three teams this year. During the game one could hear him singing the chorus to Shawn Casidy's "Do Run Run" song.

Both the freshmen and the junior varisty teams did exceptionally well this season, but many are awaiting the arrival of 1986, the year when these two teams will combine to form one outstanding varsity team. See you at the game!

The 1984-1985 Watsonville Wildcat Wrestlers continued the winning tradition of past years with yet another strong season. Under the firm guidance of coaches Garcia and Loyala, the Varsity finished 9-2 (5-1 in the league) and placed third in the Monterey Bay Championships. They won the Alisal tournament in Salinas and placed second in the Lincoln Dual tournament at San Jose High School. Some of the players who made key contributions were Les Guzman, Brian Swan and Mike Mc Callum.

The Junior Varsity also had an outstanding year, finishing first in the MBL with a 12-1 record. All of this success certainly gives the wrestling program at Watsonville High School high hopes for next year!

Jaws Four

As the unsuspecting swimmer waded into the shallow end of the pool, he turned and saw something that he will never forget. He saw a foaming, churning mass of water with various human appendages appearing and disappearing into the water. The swimmer turned and swam for his life with images of horrible monsters, sharks, and giant octopuses chasing after him. Suddenly, it was on top of him and moving away. He saw a sign on the fence which read, "swimming practice today", and knew that it was just the boys swimming team, not some horrible creature. The boys swimming team at WHS this year practiced every day to improve their swimming technique even though they had to endure hard laps around the pool with their coach, Saxon Johnson cheering them on. The team practiced so hard that their friends thought they would grow fins and swim off into the sunset. The students of WHS appreciated the boys swim team as they represented our school throughout the area.

Reaching Higher Places

Basking under the leadership of Mr. "no foul" Haney, the 1985 Watsonville High School girls' varsity basketball team culminated their season by tieing for 3rd place in the SCCAL league, thus enabling them to go the the league play-offs.

Although the varsity appeared to be off to a shaky start this season, they pulled together and compiled a 12-13 record. The Junior Varsity team got off to a winning season by being victorious in their first game. Overall they had a 18-6 record (12-2 in league play).

Both teams worked hard under the guidance of coaches Haney and McGushin. Even though there were some low points in the season, both teams showed a steady improvement and ended league play with a strong season.

Just For the Kicks

Hard work and determination, that's what made up a major portion of the girls' soccer team this year. With a record of 2-4-1, the girls saw the results of their strenuous practices and workouts. Both of the wins came against the tough Gilroy team, while the tie was a result of the second confrontation with Live Oak.

An exciting aspect of the season was the great team spirit and unity evidenced by the girls. If next year's team incorporates that spirit as well as the hard work and determination, great things will be in store for them. Congratulations to our girls' soccer team! Keep up the good work.

All Star People Just watch 'em Shine

Just what does it mean to be the best on the team? When someone is voted Most Valuable Player is it because a lot of people know and like that person or is it because that person was actually the best person on the team? If you've had the opportunity to play on some kind of WHS team then you probably remember voting for MVP or most inspirational person. Who got these awards for your team? Did they deserve it? What about the Student Athlete award? Is the person with the 3.99 really a student athlete or is it that the person who just happens to be the smartest member on the team? What does it take to be an all-star, outstanding player? A lot of determination and a strong will, as well as a tremendous liking for sport was a popular response to this question. But you don't have to be on a team to be an all-star. As long as you play your hardest, and give it your all when you play, you can shine just like the rest.

Stealing; No Crime Here

Twenty-one young and talented ball players made up the Wildcatz Varsity Baseball Team.

Mr. Bivins, head coach of the team, said that even though the team lacked experience and was a young ball team, each player was talented and he expected a good year. He felt that they should be a contending team in the playoffs.

The Varsity team was led by Gino Stefanini (Jr), Stan Davies (Soph), Juan Garcia (Jr), and David Lee (Jr).

The four seniors, Paul Coty, Brian Swan, Richie Baum, and Mark Guy were also important to the team because they all had some years of experience and they had leadership skills that this young team needed.

The team also was privileged to have the fine coaching skills of Mr. Gino Stefanini Jr., outfield coach Doug Saucedo, pitching coach. Brian Harris, who graduated in 1983, was the infield coach.

The Varsity team will also look forward to the 1986 season since it will be more mature and it will have a year's experience of working together.

Diamonds; A Guy's Best Friend

The WHS baseball diamond was where it all started for the J.V. and Frosh teams. Their fantasies began at home plate as they overlooked the field to pursue an over-the-fence home run. To get that homerun took a good amount of strenuous hard work, which consisted of various calisthenics, jogging and numerous frustrating practices. These practices all paid off, for the players pulled together to help form proud teams to represent our school.

A Challenge

Hitting ball back and forth across a court at first may seem to be boring and monotonous. But actually, playing tennis can be very challenging. It all seems very easy, but it takes a lot of practice and skill to be able to hit a 3 inch ball zooming toward you at 25 miles per hour and be able to exercise control over it enough to beat an opponent.

The sport of tennis not only offers a challenge, but with tennis, you can help keep healthy, trim, and toned.

It's really been great being a part of Watsonville tennis. We've got a great group of guys and a super coach!

The team should place high in league standings because of this older and more mature team. Next year the Juniors are hoping to have a shot at the league championship.

Mr. Kozinski, the team's coach, said he's, "Looking forward to two very good years with a fine bunch of young men who have a league championship as their goal." Go get them Catz!!!

Faster, They're Gaining on You!

As you were running all you could think about was how tired you were and that if you had to go another foot you'd drop. But, then, you looked back and saw the finish line, and in the corner of your eye you saw the runner from Aptos High School at your heels. You heard everyone yelling at you to win. Cheered on, you sprinted and won the race by a fraction of a second.

You later realized that if it weren't for all the hard and grueling work that Mr. Loyola put you through, you would have come in second or even third place. You would have humilated the school because your win was needed to win the meet.

After you found out that Ken Walton jumped the highest in the pole vault, that Patty Macias threw the farthest in the girls discus, and that Jeff Prater broke the record in shotput, you realized that your event was important to win the meet. You gave it your all and we won!

Our great victory was cause for a celebration after the meet. Just when they were pouring the Martinelli's Sparkling Apple cider over your head, your alarm went off and you realized that today was the BIG DAY and you had to get out of a nice warm bed, get dressed, and go out and make your team PROUD!

Batter Up

Come on you little Patatas," urged girl's softball coach, John Goicovich, "get out there and work!"

Along with Mr. Goicovich's words of encouragement, the girls had to put up with things such as practicing in the rain, endless batting sessions, and teasing from the Boy's baseball team.

This year's turnout for softball was very good and with that much talent we were sure to have a winning team.

The women's touch of our softball team really made the baseball diamond come alive. But don't be fooled by the good looks of our girls, because underneath all that beauty was the power and determination to try to win every time

A Tribute To the Best

To all of those wonderful people who attended every game, win or loss, rain or shine, we pay a tribute. Without our booster club, our pep club, our band, our cheerleaders, our stat girls, and our coaches we just wouldn't have done as well as we did.

As we close up another fun-packed year with the Wildcatz, Willie pays a warm "Thank You" to all of you for being there. Without our fans yelling and cheering us on from the stands, and most of all, without our coaches who take time out of their everyday routine to coach us we just wouldn't have the fine sports program that Watsonville High School has today. So thank you for supporting us, together we make it happen.

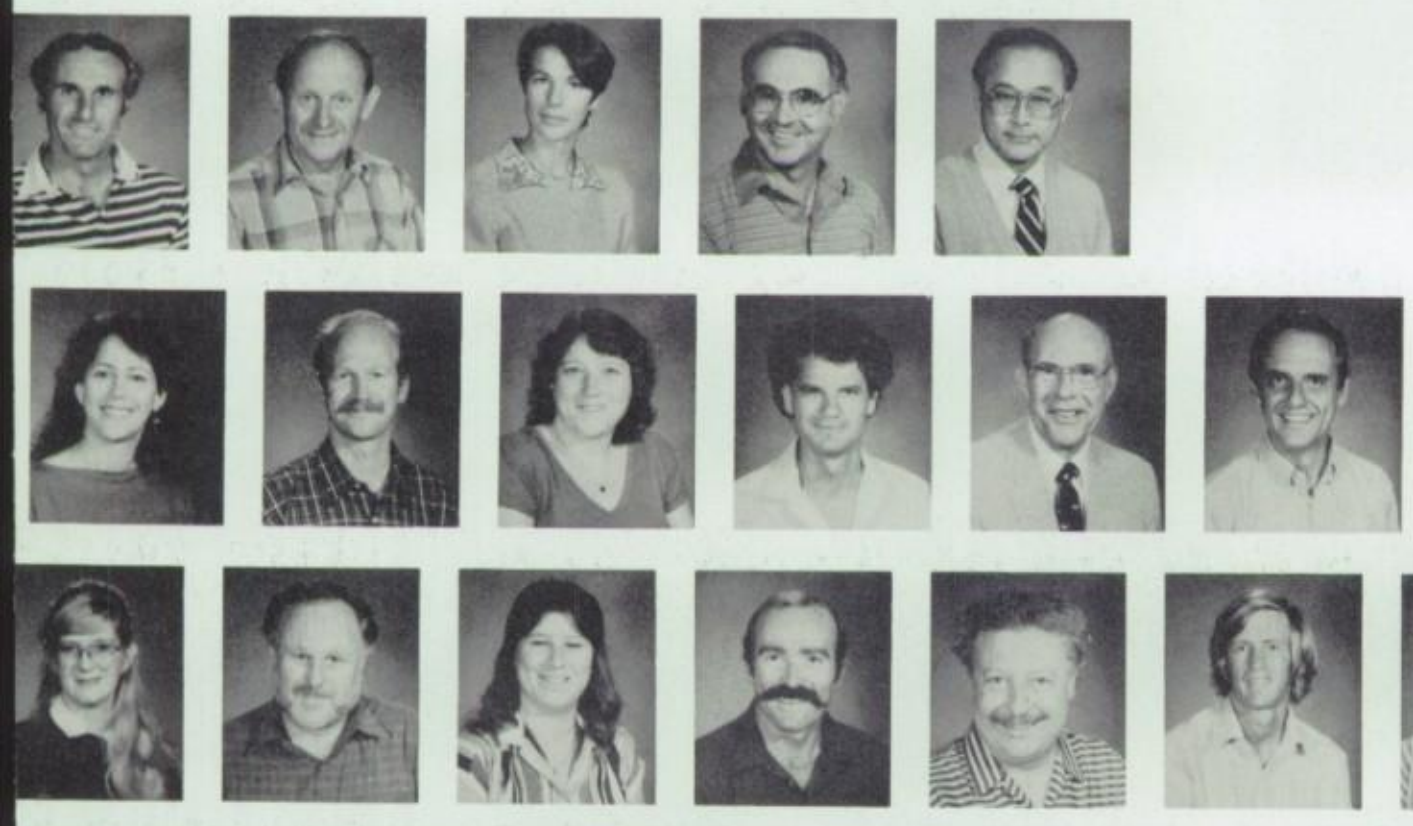
Faculty



Order In The Court

Do you feel that going to school is like being on trial? ell, if you do, you're probably ght because all year long your ork has been judged by a quali- d jury.

This academic jury was none her than your own respected culty. We saw many familiar es, but the faculty this year also d many new faces added to it. The teachers might have been the jury during the school year, but that didn't prevent students from making their own judgements of the faculty.

As LORI PAZ said, ''MR. JAMES JONES is the coolest teacher. He's so rad! He's down to earth. He has the stuff 'GQ' men are made of."

DENA PATTERSON had a favorite teacher, too. ''MS. WOOTEN must be a good teacher, she can cope with me."

SAL MEDINA agreed that "all teachers were excellent, especially MR. SPURLOCK.''

Of course, some had their complaints. For example, ISABEL GOULART felt that, "Teachers give too much homework."

Perhaps a member of the faculty, MR. WELCH, summed it all up "I have mixed opinions about teachers" he stated. "But, for the most part I feel they're dedicated to their jobs."

WHS students were satisfied and pleased with the academic atmosphere at WHS.

1. Smile that smile, Mr. Grabost. 2. Mr. Wong eagerly strides for the finish line. 3. It's time to relax, as shown by these teachers, Mr. Kosinski, Mr. Hancy, and Mrs. Severin.

Life After School

Despite the fact that we students sometimes thought that teacher's spent all of their precious time generously handing out tons of homework and trying to make our short lives miserable, we forgot that every teacher also had a life outside of the classroom that was not just filled with assigning and correcting papers.

Most of the teachers had some sort of time consuming hobby that they enjoyed, even though some were more strenuous and demanding than others. For example, Mr. Wong competed in swimming races and Mr. Grabost enjoyed scuba diving. Each teacher's hobby had it's own special quality. After a long, tiring day of teaching school, the #1 ranking hobby of ALL teachers was just to sit down, kick off their shoes, and relax!

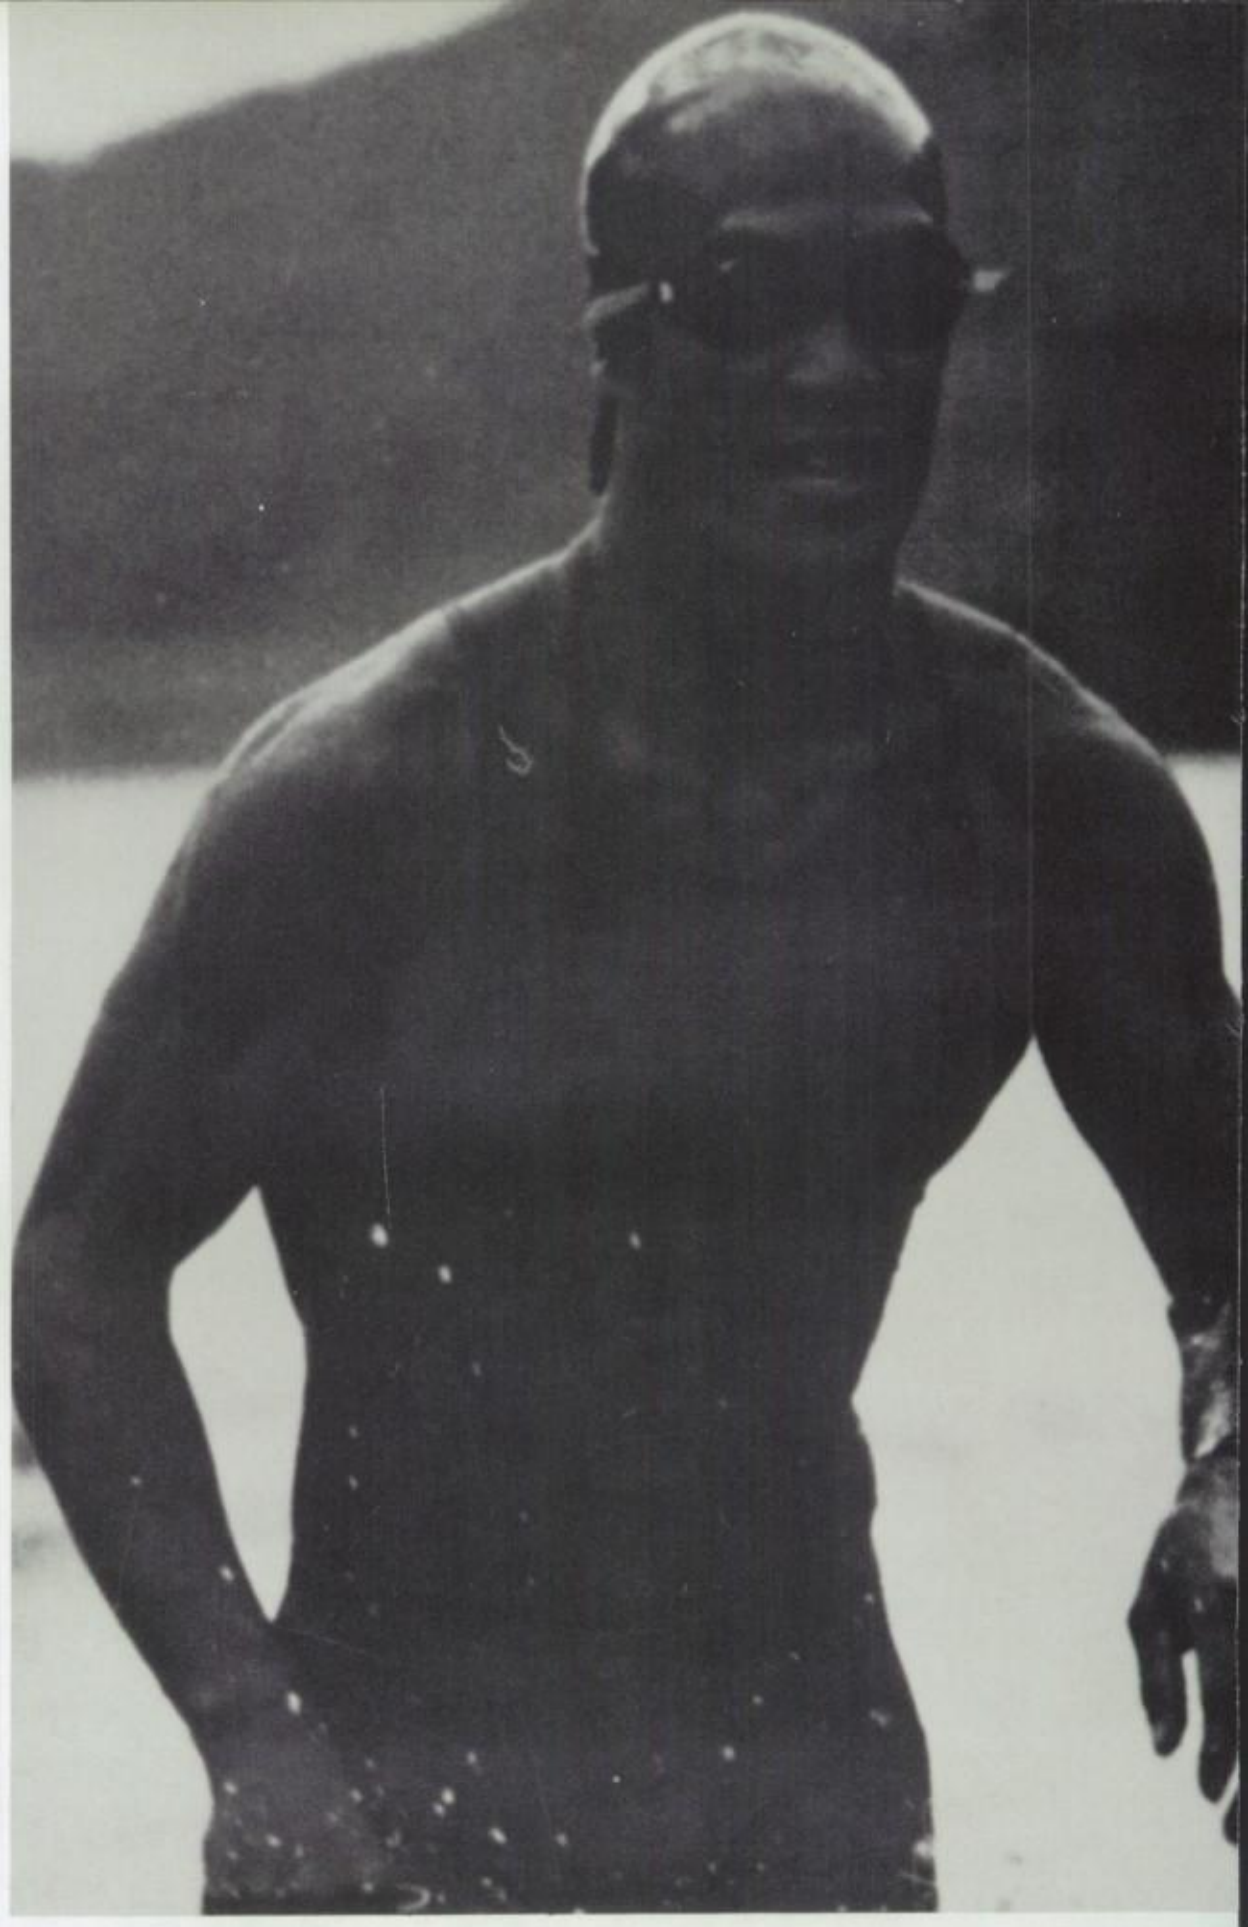

Exhibit A: Teacher's Fashions

Is that well dressed man in the navy blazer an IBM executive? No, that was Mr. Calvo, our principal. What about the T-shirt and running shoes? Another teacher, Bob Linney whose clothes reflected his laid-back style. Teachers at WHS dressed in many different ways. Some got dressed-up looking like someone who worked in an office all day, while others grabbed our attention by their way out style. All in all, the teachers at WHS dressed sensibly, whether it was with the casual or the business look.

4. Mr. Mendoza looks classy in his tie and vest. 5. Mr. Davis is in his patriotic olympic t-shirt. 6. Floral designs are in with Ms. Thompson. 7. Where's your hula skirt, Mr. Curtis? 8. Show us those legs, Bob Linney.

THE PRESIDING JUDGES

Mr. Calvo, the chief justice at WHS, and his associates Mr. Markatos, Mrs. Shapiro, and Mr. Sheckman worked hard this year at Watsonville High School. We often forgot how much time and devotion they contributed to help this school run smoothly and peacefully. The school was very fortunate to have such dedicated people presiding over its daily functioning. Their loyalty and patience will never be forgotten by the students or the staff.

All rise for the higher judges—the ones who helped to make this year a success!

1 Ms. Shapiro likes her job.
2 Mr. Markatos has had a good day.
3 Mr. Schekman spends hours on the telephone.
4 Mr. Calvo smiles through a load of paper work.
5 Mr. Calvo and Mr. Hasimoto concentrate on the task at hand.

OUR OWN FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Nursing is love made visible.
Nothing speaks so loudly,
or is heard so plainly,
as the silent steps
or the gentle whisper of a caring nurse.
Next to love,
compassion is the sweetest expression of the human heart.
Nursing is the gentle art of caring.
Northing is so strong as gentleness,
nothing so gentle as real strength.
Care is a beautiful thing.
We are never nearer to God than in our compassionate moments.
Every act of kindness is God's caring that you can see.
Those who so lovingly give of themselves
share with others,
a bit of heaven itself.
A nurse is God's angel of mercy.
Nothing the heart gives is gone;
it is kept in the hearts of others.

GUIDELINES FOR TEACHERS

The art of teaching is the art of assisting discovery.
You can teach a lesson for a day but if you teach curiosity, you teach for a lifetime.
It's too bad that the people who really know how to run the country are busy teaching school.
When truth stands in your way, you are headed in the wrong direction.
When teaching the love of truth, never lose the truth of love.
Teacher's tasks take a lot of live wires and see that they are well-grounded.
The mediocre teacher tells,
the good one explains,
the superior one shows,
the great one inspires.
Nothing improves a child's hearing more than praise.

Keep the Catsup off the Page!

We needed really patient librarians at WHS this year. Students found the library to be a comfortable place where they could study, do research, and converse quietly. The library staff was amazingly patient and helpful. We found our library so homey that we wanted to stay there forever. At least, that is, until our stomaches growled and awakened us to lunch.

Hunger pangs were one of the things that could lure us away from this quite sanctuary. Since we weren't allowed to eat in the library, we treked through mud and rain to get to the cafeteria.

Luckily, our cafeteria staff was as accomodating as those who worked in the library. They worked from the wee hours in the morning to prepare varied meals and snacks. We appreciated the good food and tried to read in the library, eat in the cafeteria, and keep the catsup off the pages.

Narcs" "Peacemakers", or almost anything else you can think of is what they were being called, but they really were our Campus Supervisors!

They wandered around campus during classes to keep the rowdy students from killing each other, the mellow people from zoning out, and everyone else from cutting class! These campus supervisors included Andy Moore, Nick Bosworth, known as "Captain Crunch", and Jerry Giggs, nicknamed "Yoda".

Nick Bosworth was the newest member of this team. He commented, "I like it here at WHS; it's great. The students are great; there are no more troublemakers. Students here are very genuine. They're down to earth."

Andy Moore thought there was trouble this year, and that this was mostly due to cutting.

These "Campus Supervisors" were not only "Narcs" but our good friends, and most of us appreciated them, at WHS.

The Secretaries of the Jury

Who were our secretaries? Did you know? Did you try guessing? Well, if you did, and you want to know if you were right, here are some of their names: Alice Wong, secretary to Mr. Markatos, Lorraine Glover, secretary to Mr. Calvo, Gloria Smead, secretary to Ron Bolek and Anita Gomez, secretary to Ms. Shapiro.

Just knowing a name doesn't mean much. Here are some more interesting tidbits about these valued people.

Alice Wong has been with our school for fourteen years. She never plans on retiring, unless something happens that she does not predict. Lorraine Glover keeps Mr. Calvo in the proper place at the proper time, and said that she also doesn't plan on retiring in the near future.

Gloria Smead has three jobs. She's secretary for Ron Bolek, Bilingual clerk typist, and works on the site council. Gloria also helped test bilingual students so that they could get the right classes. Anita Gomez assigned lockers to students, typed all suspension notices (ouch!), did all her required typing and filing, and monitored the radios used by administration and campus supervisors.

Needless to say, our school could not have functioned without the support of these pleasant, dedicated people. You can bet that the administration appreciated them also!

4. Dian Descoteaux shuffling the voluminous paper work.

5. Gloria Smead brightens up everyone's day.
8. Lorraine Glover setting up the appointments for Mr. Calvo.

Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Pat Allison scrutinize the attendance roles.
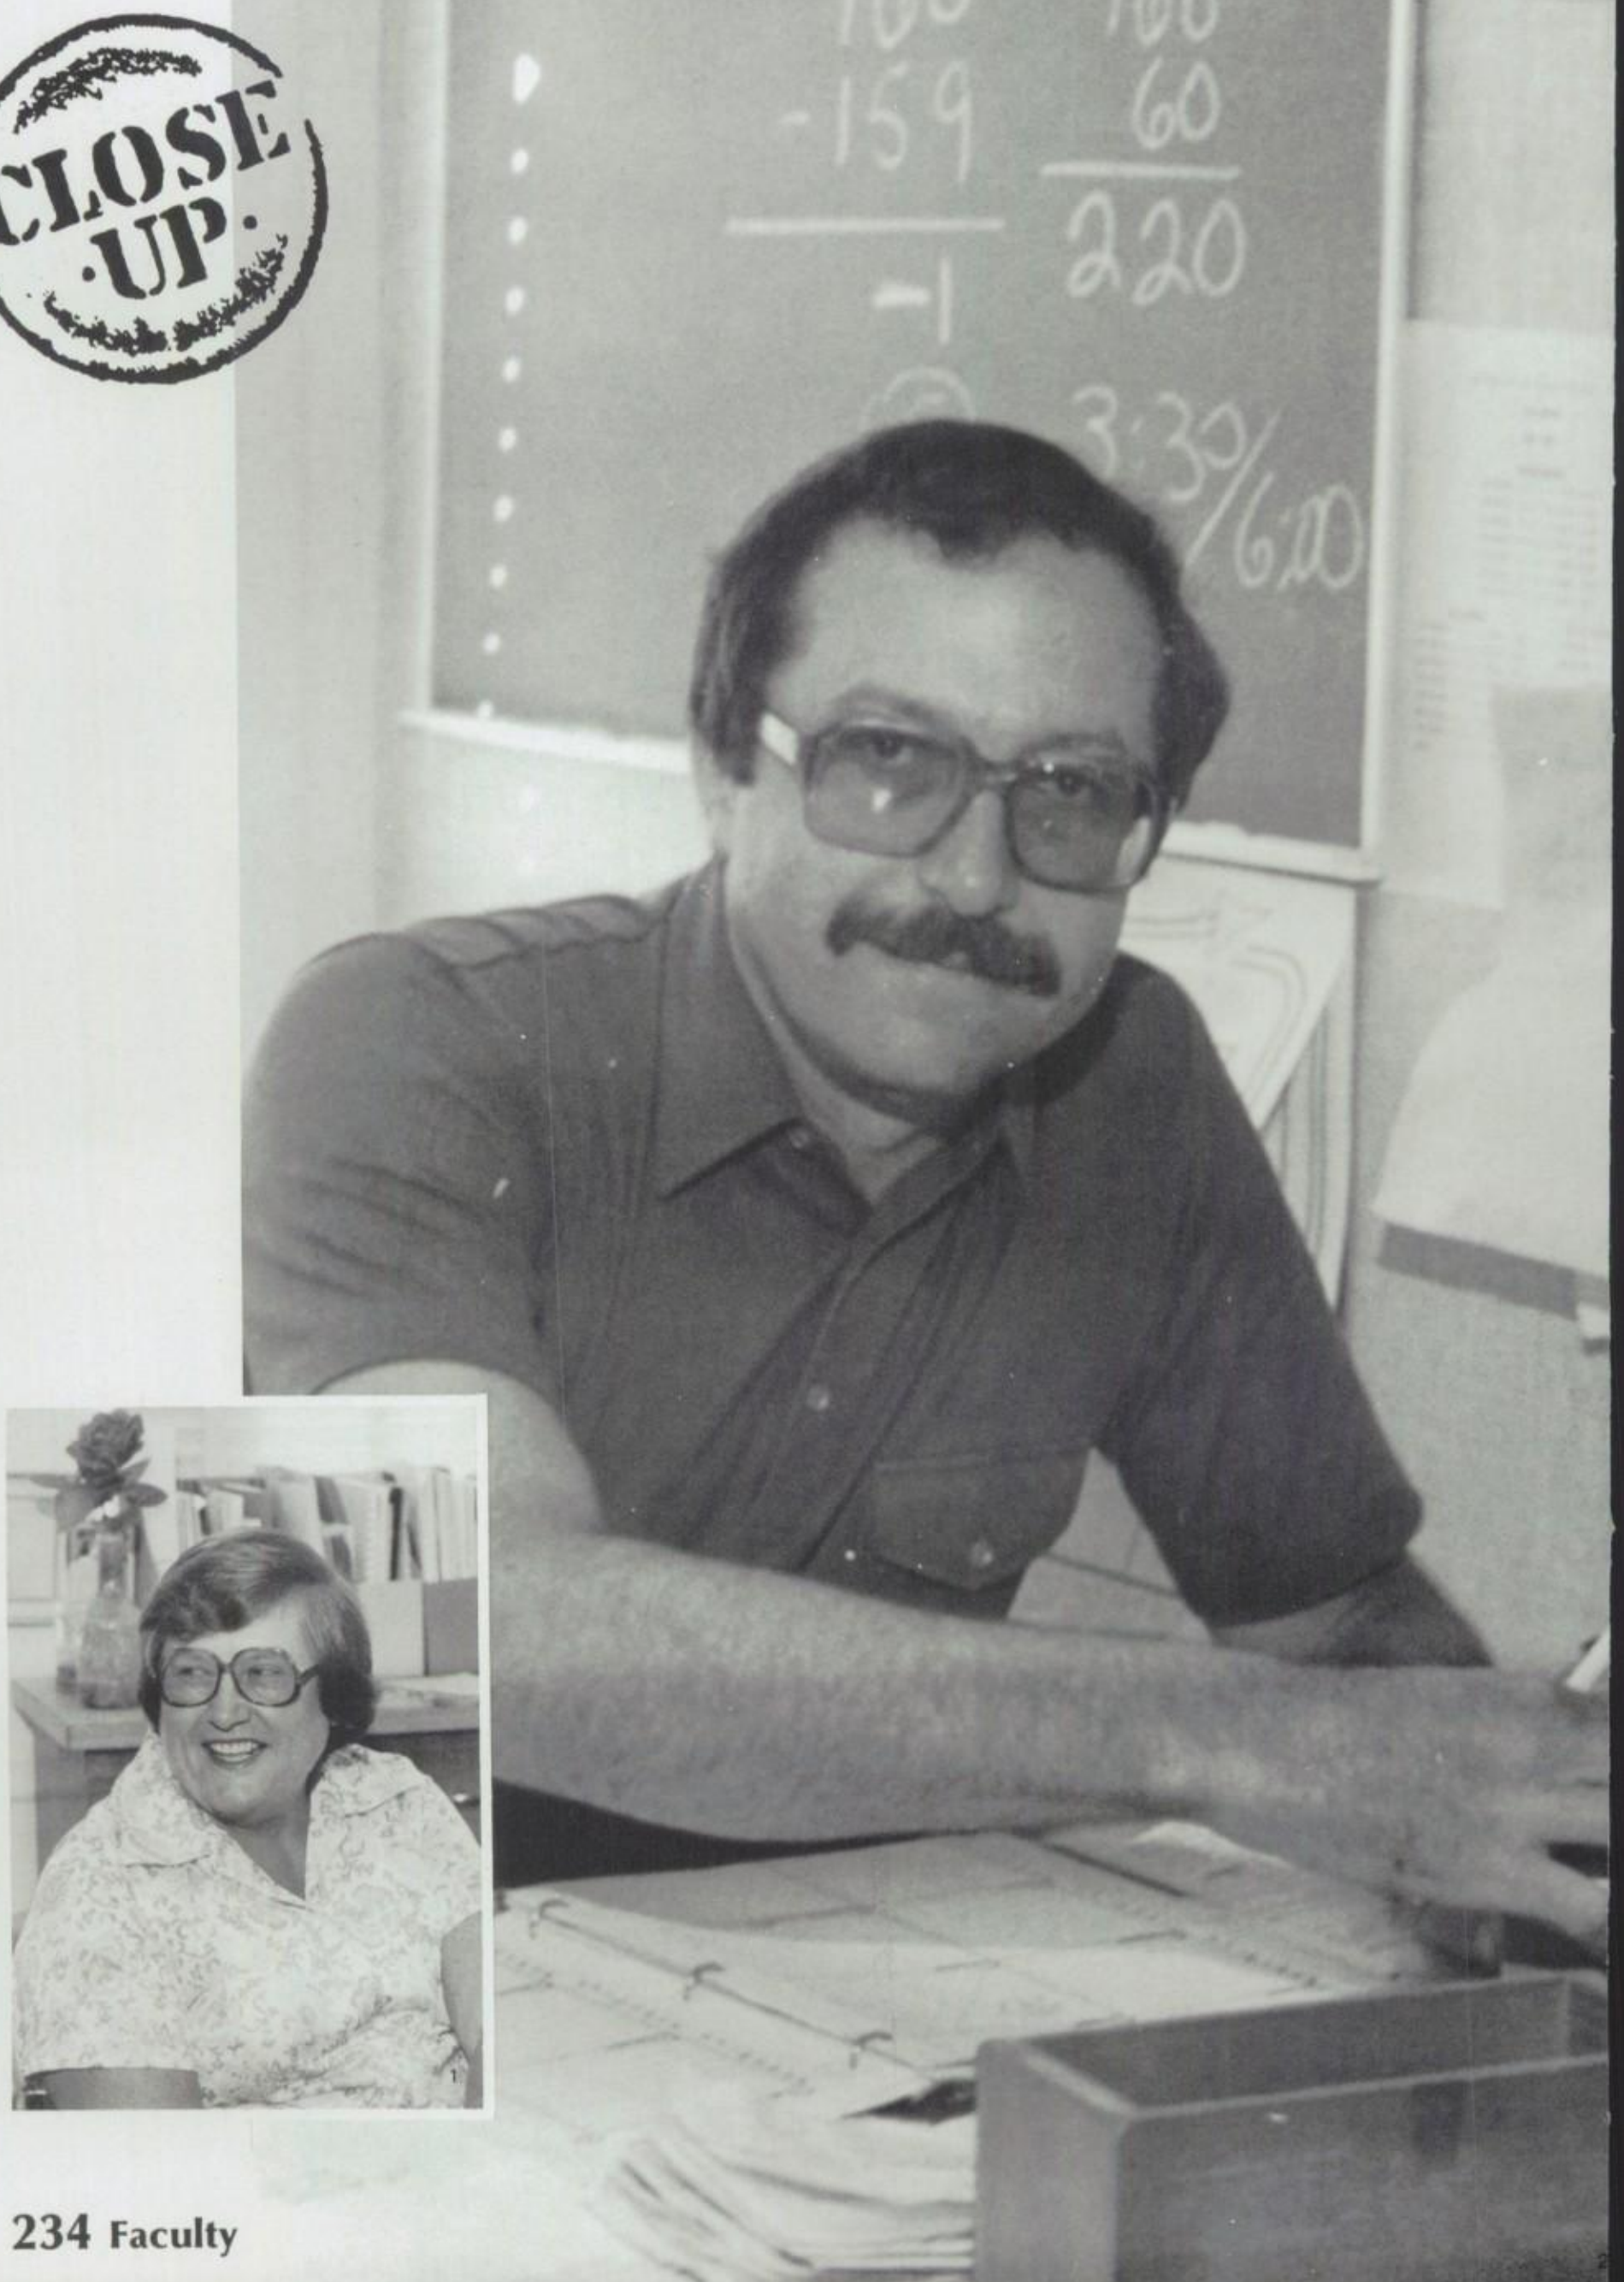
Helen Fernandez is always helpful to students and faculty alike.

6. Donna Loftin and Veronica Peña help each other so they'll have time to enjoy a snack.
7. Alice Wong takes a breather after scheduling substitutes.

CLOSE UP



FRIENDS? THREATS? or ORDINARY PEOPLE?

Are they friends? threats? or ordinary people? The truth of it is they can be all three. They are friends when it comes time to change a schedule, or when you need someone to talk to. They are threats when they call your parents and tell them things you don't want them to know. And, they are ordinary people when they go home and watch TV, go out to a movie, go out to dinner, or just do everyday things.

These people we call friends, threats, and just ordinary people are our counselors.

The counselors this year were: Mr. Bianchi A-Da, Mrs. Armenta Db-Hern, Mrs. Hedlund Hero-Mi, Mr. Sullivan Rp-Z, and Vicki Estrada migrant counselor.

Student opinions of these counselors were generally high.

Curtis Miller felt that, "Mrs. Hedlund is really cool. She is very nice."

Socorro Osequero thought that Mr. Sullivan is good for college bound students."

Biology teacher Mr. James Jones just about summed it all up with, "The counselors are hard working people."

And we Watsonville High School students felt they were some of our best assistants.

1. Ms. Hedlund takes a break from her busy schedule. 2. Mr. Bianchi ponders over the best way to relate to students. 3. Mr. Sanchez likes what he sees! 4. Ms. Armenta fluently helps students in both Spanish and English. 5. Mr. Sullivan suggests future possibilities.

The Quicker Picker Upper

They're the handiest, helpful helper's around—they were our custodians.

The custodians always tried to make absolutely sure that we had a good clean campus, and that the lockers were in tip-top shape. But, that was not all they did. They also helped to keep up with school maintenance, as well.

One of our custodians, Angelo Coelho, wished that the students could show more self discipline at lunch. Students picking up the large amount of trash in the quad would have made his job a little less difficult, he felt.

Another custodian, John Salsedo, commented, "My hours are peaceable. The students are a pretty good crowd, and the teachers are pretty flexible and helpful."

To wind it all up, custodian Tranquilino Dizon commented, "The students seem to lead spiritual lives, and have many high goals. The teachers are good people, and are quite nice." He also stated, "I like WHS very much, it's life—no work, no life."

But no matter how dirty or clean the campus was, the custodians were always there, helping to make our lives more pleasant.

Army Barrack

Have you heard of our army barrack? It stands by our student parking lot. We know it is the Pajaro Unified District Office. The people within the barrack this year helped to run our district. They kept up with finances, payroll, and management of all our school buildings. They were also the employment office for new people entering our district. They were very important people, for without them the district would not have functioned. Without these people we would not have such good teachers, school buildings, or other school personnel.

It's a Small Case!

The letters were getting blurry! Your head started to nod and the big hand on the clock seemed to move backwards. You got startled and jumped out of your seat. Everyone started laughing at you. You realized it was just a dream!

Does this sound like a normal Thursday afternoon before a test? Not really that drastic, but for some it took a lot of hard work to get that rewarding A. Those who really worked hard and wrung an A from all of their classes deserved a lot more than a mere pat on the back.

If you had thought about it you would have realized that it really took a lot of hard work to get an A out of all of does CP classes you had, like calculus which had all those super long equations. Michael Supelveda said, "Calculus takes two hours of homework a night, but I can hang!" Even more complicated was CP English 7-8. It took hours and hours to complete all of the many reading and writing assignments for these classes.

There was more to it then that. There were the business classes also. The word processing classes and programming classes were difficult, too. In the typing classes, students had to type at least 45 words per minute to pass. These classes were for the people who were thinking about going into business. Equally demanding were the civics classes that all seniors had to pass in order to graduate. This was a year long class. But, all in all, we knew we needed to remember that all of these classes were just stepping stones to bigger, better, and even harder endeavors.

Social Studies

a.k.a. Upper Kingdom

As you went through the halls and up the ramps, you entered the Social Studies Zone. This was the Realm of the Past, Present, Future, of our country, the world, and our minds. From Babylonia to Ronald Reagan the time has passed and you have come to learn about the great knowledge of our existance on the planet earth. Mr. Pedulla said that, "the Social Studies Department is known as the Upper Kingdom." The reason for this name was that one must climb higher to get to a Social Studies class than any other class on campus.

Here are the teachers of the Realm of the Past, Present, and Future, along with the classes that they taught. In the Realm of the required classes, students took World Civilization as a Freshman from either Mrs. Barrington, Ms. Mendez, Mr. Jones, Mr. Mendoza, Mr. Sargent, Mr. Molhulski, or Mr. Davies. As Juniors, students took U.S. History from either Mr. Hashimoto, Mr. Pedulla, Miss. Thomson, or Ms. Mendez. And as Seniors, people took Civics/Economics together for a year from either Mr. Jones, Mr. Peck, Mrs. Mendez, Mr. Lane, Mr. Pedulla. Mark Farris said, "I especially liked Mr. Pedulla's Civics class because he made it easier so we could learn more."

Are you wondering about those lucky sophomores? Well those Sophomores didn't have to take any History classes. But, there was a tremendous offering of elective classes in the Realm of the Past, Present, and Future, for them and anyone else who was interested in taking them.

1. Paul Farmer concentrates to improve.

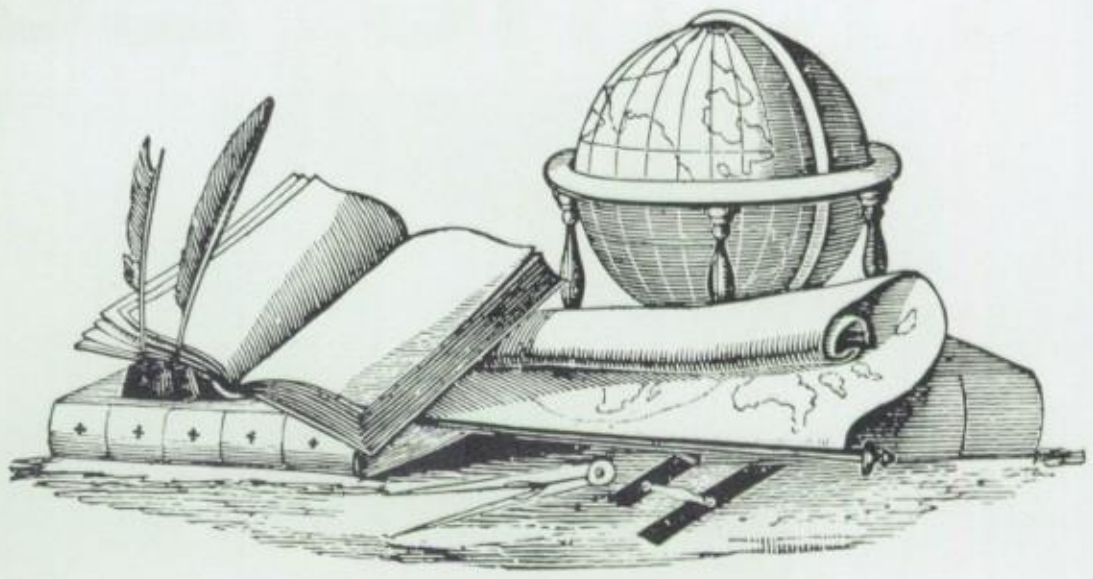
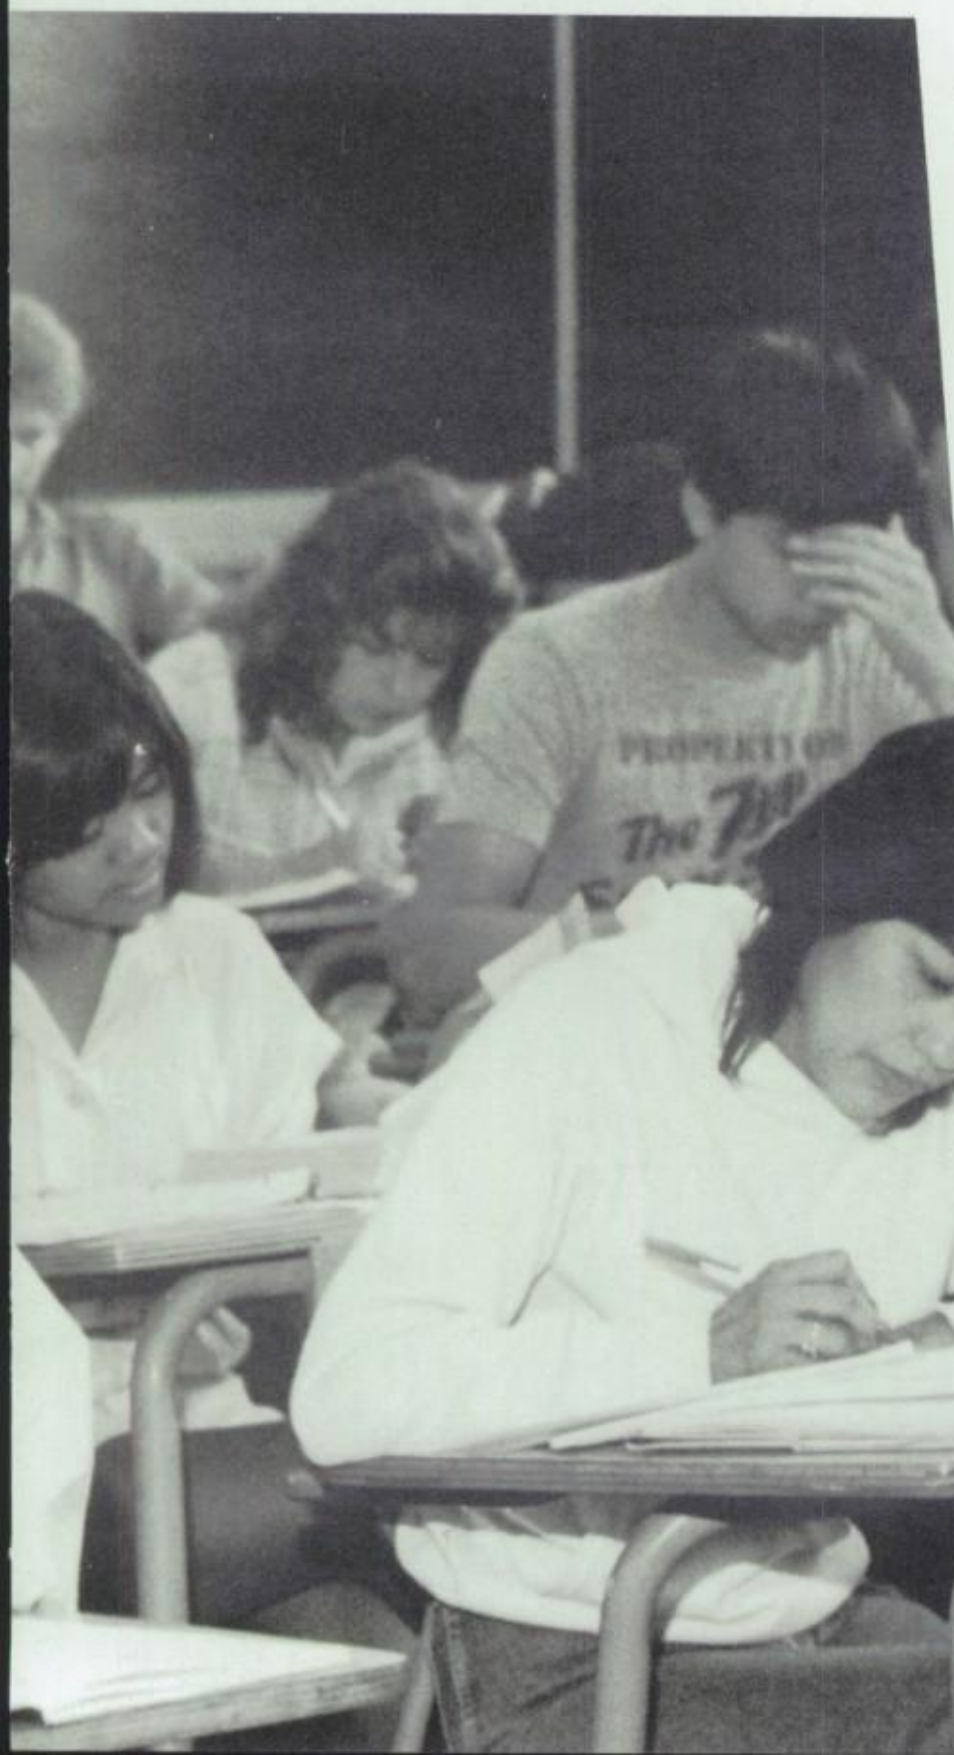
2. Marilynn Torres is daydreaming in her own upward kingdom.

3. It's amazing how quiet a class becomes during an essay test.





We wouldn't want to forget the Realm of the elective classes such as: Russian History and Psychology taught by Mr. Davies. Scott Smith, a Russian History student, said, "Mr. Davies shows us the Soviet Union through the eyes of someone who knows it like a native." Pat White a psychology student said, "It's a casual class that teaches you to live with life." Other elective classes were Cartography, taught by Mr. Lane, Peer Counseling taught by Mr. Laue, Mexican-American History taught by Mr. Mendoza, and International Relations and Current Events headed by Mr. Jones.

As we came to the end of the year and a long walk through the Social Studies Zone, it was time to descend back downward to the commoner's level and continue on our way from the Realm of the Past to a hopeful future.

5. Sewing can be fun as well as economical.

Hot, stringy, melted cheese oozing all over a crispy crust just waiting to be devoured by hungry students in Mrs. Sevrin's cooking class. This and many other delightful things to eat, wear, and experience were found in the Home Economics Department. The things one could make in this department were endless.

These courses were not just for girls, either. There were a lot of boys taking Home Economics that were finding out that the art of sewing, cooking, and raising a child also applied to them. Richard Casserez agreed that these survival techniques were important because, as he said, it helped boys "with the techniques that they will need for the rest of their lives." Most of the time the boys did just as well, or even better, than the girls. They especially seemed to do well in sewing because it was usually the most foreign to them and many of them worked very hard at it.

Most of the enthusiastic Home Economics students agree that they are preparing for the future. Rachelle Chrisostimo observed that, "I learned how to cook foods that are nutritious and good for me." Nannette Oakden agreed, "It teaches us the necessities of being on our own." Tiffany Beard summed up many students' feelings about the program. "I really get a lot of good experience for the basic needs in life."

The Evidence Comes In.

2. Delena Cruz dazes blankly at her English assignment.

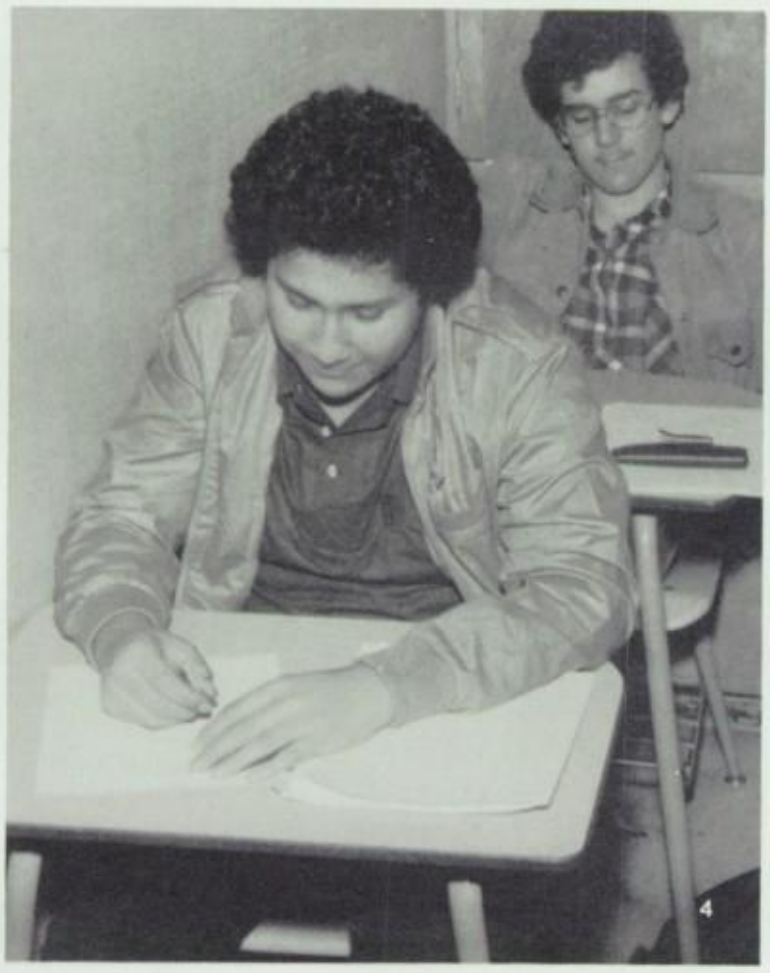
Spelling Out The Evidence

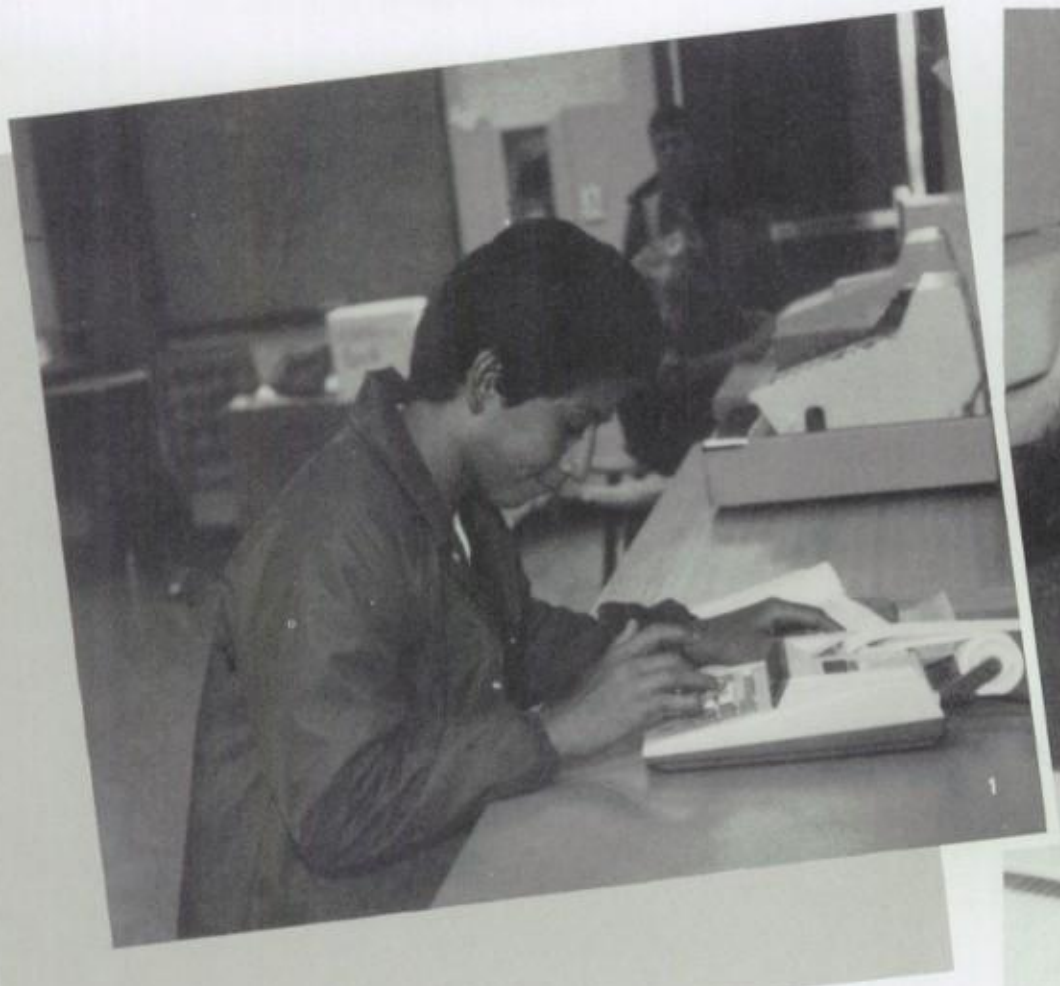
Are English classes really necessary? Well, according to the teachers and the administration, they are not only necessary, but also required.

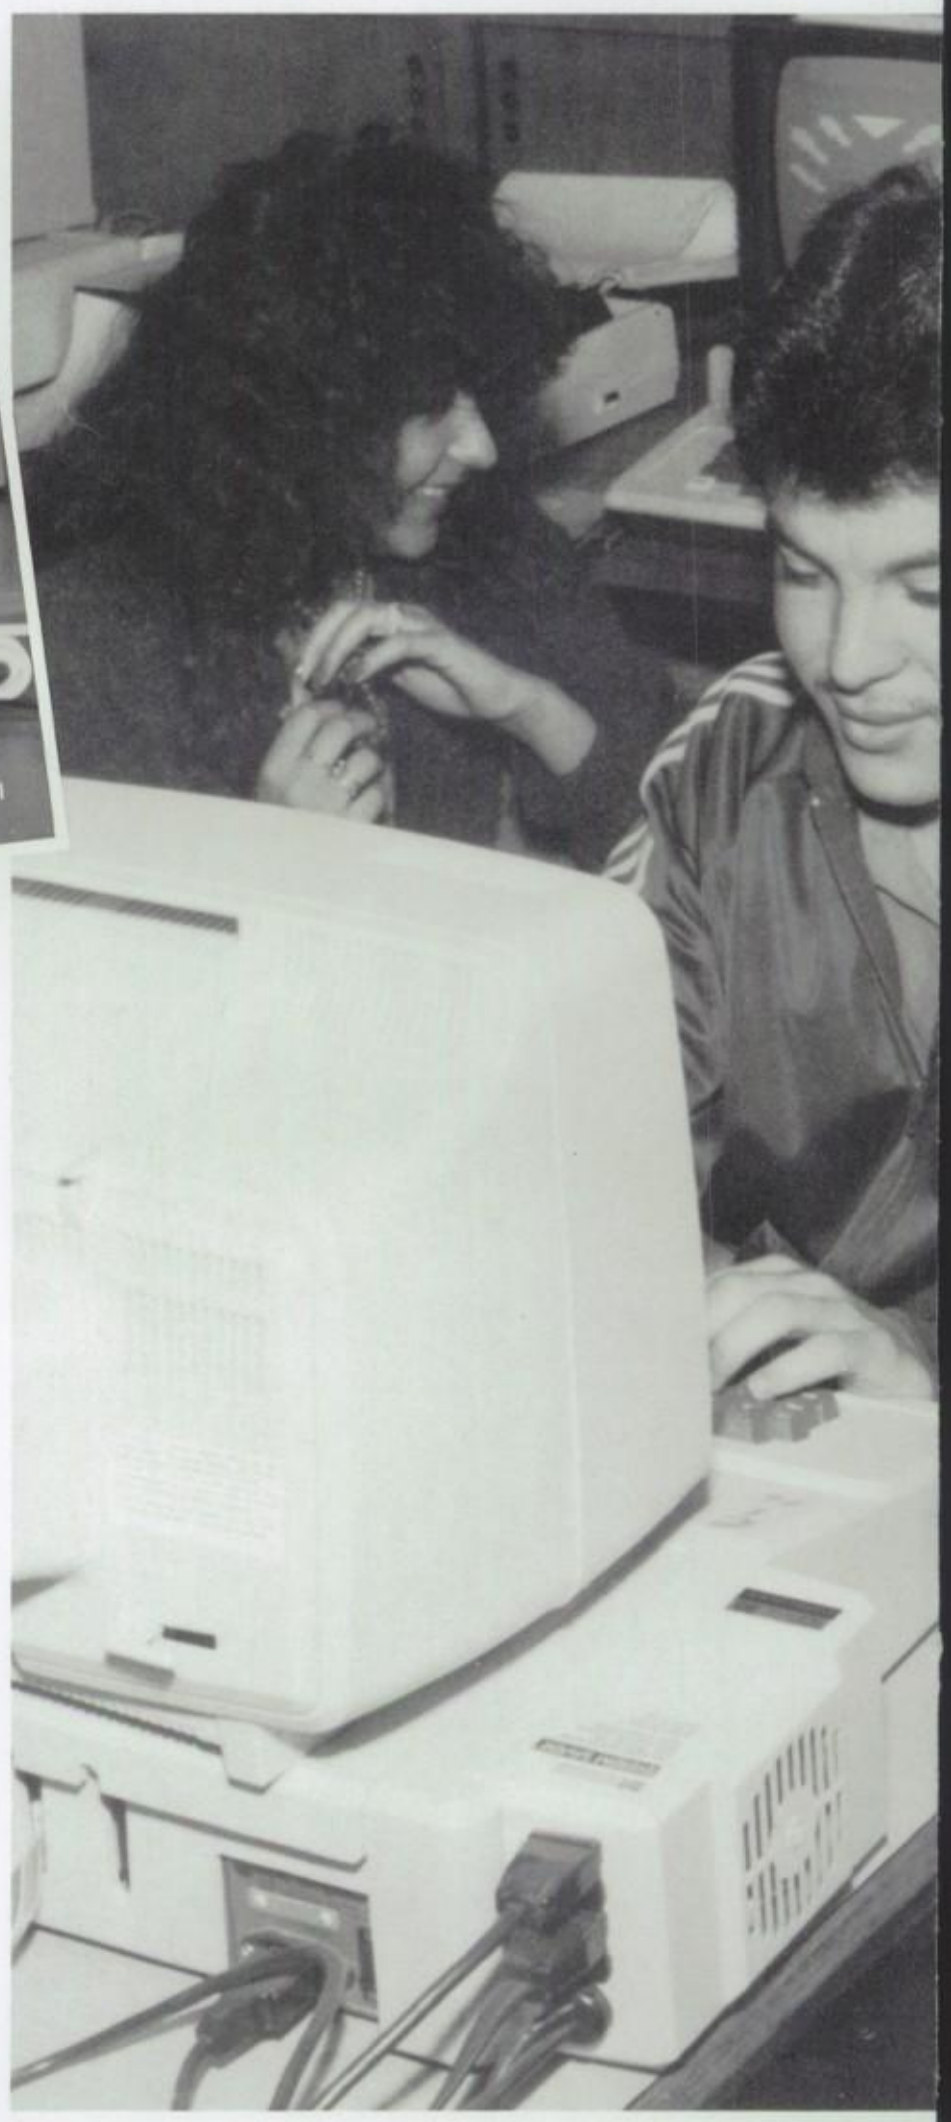
As Freshmen, students were over-whelmed by all the phrases and clauses that they had never heard of, but teachers said they had learned in the fifth grade. Then, as we progressed through High School our next years covered even more, "put you to sleep," grammar and literature. As Juniors, students had vast amounts of literature to read such as, Huckelberry Finn, The Great Gatsby, and, of course, our most favorite The Sun Also Rises. When students finally got to their Senior year they thought that English couldn't get any harder, but it did! Students had to write their first term paper and for many it was a great disaster from beginning to end.

Even though English was not everyone's favorite class, most of the students learned something new and helpful to them.



Business





Business = Money

The business department was an excellant place for students to learn a skill which could lead to a good job after graduation. Some skills that could be learned were, for example, typing, computer operations, book keeping, accounting, and other related office skills.

Included in the business department were R.O.P. courses in computers and office practice. As a part of their curriculum these courses included jobs in the community. The business department also offered typing and computer class for Spanish speaking students.

Over all, the business department successfully prepared many students to become qualified employees.

1. El Witre working on a very difficult problem.
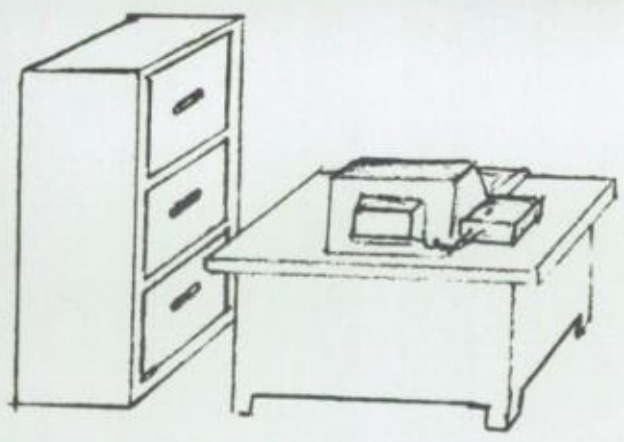
2. Enjoying his work on the computer is Tony.
3. Looking anxiously at your work is not going to solve anything.



Foreign Language

Foreign Affairs

Studying foreign language was a lot of work. It involved memorizing vocabulary, conjugating verbs and establishing a good accent. Basically, WHS offered two foreign languages to students.

Many students who studied a foreign language were college bound. State schools and universities both required at least two years of the same foreign language. So, the question was, which language should the student study, Spanish or French? LeeAnna Alexander took Spanish because she felt that she would use it in the Watsonville area. Brian Swan took French because he wanted to experience something very different and he felt that it would be a challenge. Rosa Alanis took Spanish because it would help her in finding a better job in the community.

The modern world seems smaller than ever. The skills learned in foreign language classes at WHS definitely prepared many of us students to meet challenges outside of our local area and nation.

Math

Adding Up the Evidence

When it came to math it was the survival of the fittest. Many students agreed that math was their least favorite subject and wished that it wasn't part of their college requirements.

As with any course, many different classes were offered with varying difficulty. Classes ranged from survival math all the way through calculus.

Math used to be a class that all of the "brains" took but now practically all professions demand a strong math background. To get into college, geometry was the minimum requirement. To some this was a cinch to fill. For others it was a treacherous, uphill struggle. Either way, math has become a course that practically determines a student's educational and professional opportunities.

Fine Arts

The Fine Arts Zone

It was a Monday morning and a student fought his way to school. Suddenly he saw a light coming from the Fine Arts department door. As he entered, a pleasant faced man told him that he had entered the Fine Arts Zone. The Fine Arts department was a place where students learned about playing instruments, acting, drawing, or even dancing under the expert teaching of the Fine Arts teachers. The students who were taking Fine Arts were dedicated people who would even practiced for hours to improve themselves. As the students were released from the spell of the zone and walked to their next class, they wondered if they would ever forget their experience in the Fine Arts zone.

Science

The Scientific Process

This year Watsonville High School's Science Department offered a varied number of courses that allowed students a view of the scientific process as it related to physical and biological systems.

Our science staff participated in program development and enhancement, thus affording WHS students quality experiences in the science courses in which they participated. Those students who braved Mr. Grabost's whale-watching trips, or Mr. Johnson's melagropis domesticus dissections, and other students who demolished their "Physic's Project Toys," compliments of Mr. Morgan, understood the meaning of the scientific process. Mr. Raper's and Mr. Smith's attention to theory also kept students "spellbound."

We were proud to have added new members to our staff this year: Mr. Roger Mock, Physical Science and Mr. James Jones, Biological Science. The science department will continue our efforts to provide a quality science program for Watsonville High.

Industrial Arts

To Do Or Not To Do

That was the question many people asked themselves about drama class. But, with the help of drama, students got to live out imaginary lives and have fun at the same time. Ms. Bilstad, the drama teacher, had the toughest job of all; she had to coax students into performing. But, many jumped at the chance to ham it up in front of the class. Students enjoyed the class and the drama experience these performers got should help them express themselves with more confidence in later life.

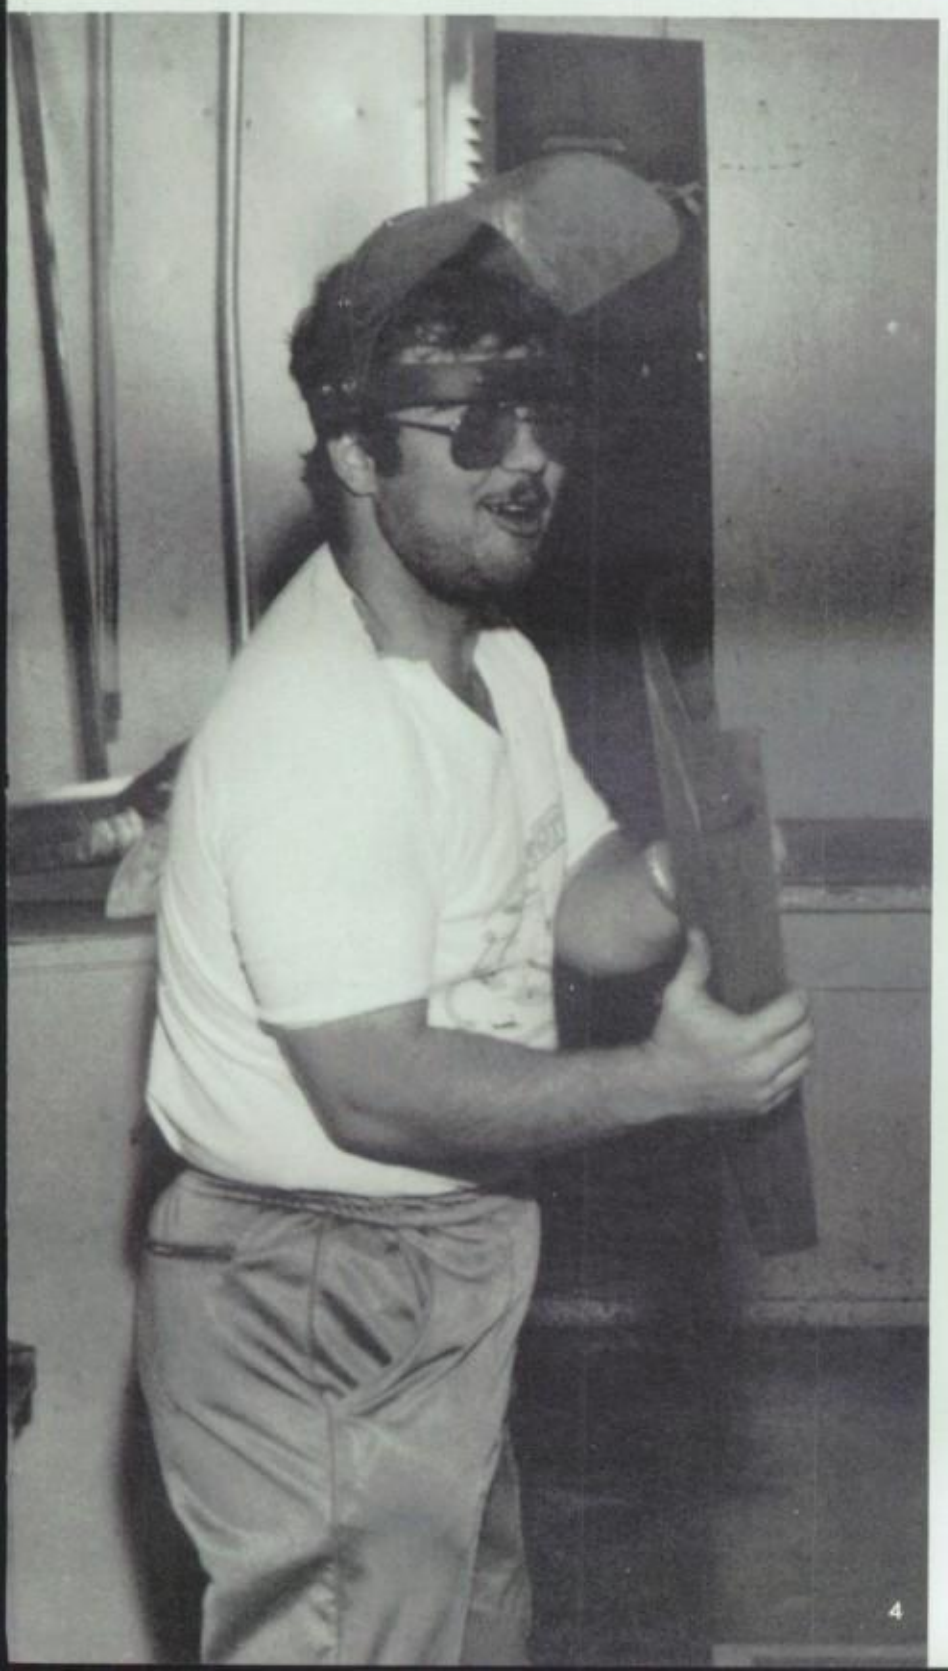
Shop Around

Auto shop, wood shop, small engines, the lists goes on and on with different industrial arts classes you could take at Watsonville High School. The classes ranged from fixing cars to designing wood pattern, and everything in between.

With the help of a good teacher you could have learned a number of things. You learned responsibility while handling the machinery, as well as learning how to use it. Plus, you could have a hobby for life or a professional outlook if you were good enough in your shop class. For a lot of creative people, shop classes really played a vital part in their everyday life.



P.E. & Agriculture

Take a Lap!

Work, work, and more work. Was it all worth it? Teachers were yelling and we were smelling terrible. It was hard work but P.E. was really worth it. We got in shape and learned how to play different kinds of sports like Football, Basketball, Track, Volleyball, Swimming, and Wrestling. P.E. was often fun, putting aside all of the hard work and frustration. Once we got into shape P.E. got to be better. Many of the sports were popular and we enjoyed playing them. Basketball, and football were probably the most popular of the P.E. sports. Sometimes we got assigned to sports we didn't like, but most of us stuck it out because P.E. was all for a good purpose.

Home on The Range

Agriculture was the world of growing and showing. Agriculture was a fun class to take because of all of the good opportunities students got like showing off animals & learning about them. This helped students get started in the world of farming that our area has so much of. Agriculture was a real good way to get to know about the land and all it has to offer. By taking this class, students found out all this and realized just how important the class was. Agriculture was a lot of fun because of all the learning experiences students had.

Deciphering the Evidence

When I became Editor-in-Chief in the fall, I knew there would be a lot of work, but I didn't know much until the first deadline, which was one week before Football Homecoming. This was followed by the second deadline in just 3 weeks. We had an extremely tight schedule all the way to the very last deadline in March. But Manzanita staff succeeded in meeting all deadlines in order to ensure that this book would arrive on time.

The theme was developed by Toni Marinovich, Kim Daniel, Natalie Fraga, Anna Petroutsas, and Sophie Petroutsas. They wanted to have a traditional yearbook, and still be able to carry out graphics and special cover stories throughout the book. They chose this theme because they felt that a yearbook was truly filled with the evidence of a fantastic year. After the theme was decided, all we had to do was put 296 pages together to make a yearbook! This book is the largest yearbook in the history of Watsonville High. We added an extra 40 pages (16 pages of color and 24 pages of black and white).

Everyone enjoys looking at yearbooks, but few people actually appreciated what the Manzanita staff had to go through to make this book turn out the way it is. We had to draw layouts (a way of designing pages); we had to find the right pictures that produced the effect we desired; we had to write copy for each spread and type this information on a type sheet. This requires many skills, such as typing, writing and graphics. In addition, we needed business expertise. We conducted yearbook sales and sold more books than last year. The staff was also responsible for going out and selling ads to complete the pages. We had some of the best staff members we've ever had. Most were very cooperative and hard working individuals who put a lot of care into their work.

There were a few outstanding staff members who I would like to give special recognition. Anne Kristich sold over $1,000.00 worth of ads in just a week and a half. She also put together a few pages in the Junior section. Stefanie Izumizaki was our business manager. She managed our finances and she completed assigned pages in the Senior sections and Student Life which look great! Kim Daniel was sport's section editor. She did most of the sports section. Kim was also very creative and artistic with the theme this year. And, what would have we done without Rosalva Vieyra? She was our Junior Section Editor and Index Editor. She was the type of person who did all her work without complaining or running into any major problems. Thanks, Rosalva!

Besides the staff, there were outside people who helped us to complete this yearbook. I would like to thank Peter Martin and Mr. George Grayson for the yearbook's front cover design. Most all of the pictures were taken by "Western Photography". I thank them for producing outstanding, high quality pictures. There was also Tenny Garner. She was our publisher-representative and she was always there when we needed her advice.

I'd like to give a special thanks to our advisor, Mrs. Bonnie Pieper. She did a great job of organizing the class. She made sure we made each deadline. Mrs. Pieper's most familiar phrases were "I've got to have five minute meeting with you right now." and "We need to have a meeting after school, Mihyun." I really appreciate what Mrs. Pieper did for this staff. It is a rare opportunity to have your very own pages in the yearbook. I hope I used this privilege to thank those who helped so much to create this yearbook.

Thanks,

Manzanita Editor-in-Chief

In the Municipal Court of WHS Judicial District
COUNTY OF SANTA CRUZ, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Plaintiff:
The staff of the 1985 Manzanita

vs. Case No. 80
Judgement
by the Court

Defendant:
The few, the proud, the Wildcatz

His Honor, Judge Willie Wildcat: "After reviewing the facts of the case and listening to the statements of both attorneys and their witnesses, I have reached a verdict of guilty. The court has been presented with strong evidence against the Wildcatz of Watsonville High School. They have been charged with having one of the best years in recent memory. The plaintiffs have supplied ample of evidence to this effect. I have taken into account the excellent photography, delightful artwork, and interesting copy in this year's Manzanita. Because of these and other obvious facts, I find the Wildcatz guilty as charged. I sentence them to the best summer that they can possibly have."

His honor,
Willie Wildcat

In Memoriam

A beautiful sunny Saturday, blue sky and a feeling that you could see forever. We nature nuts who were stuck at a teachers' conference naturally gravitated toward sunshine and flopping down on the grass during a break. Talk turned to subjects we all loved— backpacking, skiing, being at the beach. I, of course, voiced my usual lament, always wanting to learn to surf and knowing no one to teach me.

"I'll teach you," someone said. It was Barry Heit from math speaking. Someone I hardly knew, yet he was willing to drop everything, as he did so many times, to help others. And sure enough, that very afternoon I was crawling into a wetsuit built for his six foot frame, laughing repeatedly with him as over and over I fell off a board long enough to do cartwheels on. He loved those longboards, prided himself in being a purist and playfully derided shortboarders. Yet throughout the playful teasing the basic love and respect for fellow humans was always apparent.

I was given a beautiful gift that day, the gift of friendship with a man whom I admired and loved. As he talked me through the frustrations and insecurity of surfing, I gained confidence from the clear blue eyes and warm smile. Later that night his buddy, John, Barry, and I solved the world's problems as we downed Chinese food; Barry was an expert on Oriental cuisine, and a real pro at finding the best hole in the wall for great Mexican meals. He lived with such gusto, whether experimenting with foreign food or devouring Divine Decadence chocolate at the Saturn Cafe. Every excursion with him was guranteed to be an adventure.

He was the only person I ever knew who rolled along in a van with his closet, possessions and KFAT sticker trailing after, when they weren't tucked into his other home, his boat. Like Barry, both vehicles were a little worse for wear, yet, like him, serene and comfortable to be around. It seemed like life had handed him so much pain, yet through his compassion and warmth he always tried to reduce the suffering for others. He loved teaching and his students, and he successfully brought a precious sense of humor and perspective to a frenzied world.

He gave us so much and in return, we gave him love, prayers, hugs, letters, phone calls and funny cards. But, we couldn't give him what he so desperately needed and deserved, life and good health. So, he's left us now, and those of us whose lives he affected so deeply miss him very much. Take care, Barry; we'll catch the next wave for you.
